COUNCIL OKAYS $728,000 CITY FINANCE BILL

1939 Appropriation Ordinance, Recommended by Committee, Passed Without Comment.

GENERAL FUND UP $1,200

$278,000 Set Up for Operating Expenses; Lone Change Made in Measure.

With one minor change, city council last night placed its stamp of approval on the 1939 appropriation ordinance allocating $728,722 for the operation of the city government this year.

Since members of council were familiar with its contents, the detailed appropriations were not read and it was accepted on recommendations from the finance committee which drafted the bill last week.

Slight Increase.

A total of $278,097 is set up in the general fund for the year, which represents an increase of only $1,200 more than was appropriated for operating purposes during 1938.

Passage of the measure assures city employes of their pay on the regular semi-monthly payday Saturday and makes it possible for the city to transact other financial matters. Neither could have been undertaken until passage of the measure.

The lone change in the ordinance involved a $225 item which had been set up for new furniture for municipal court, but which had been ordered stricken from the bill as an economy move by the finance committee.

Authorize Pay Boost.

The only comment on the measure was made by Fred Miller, chairman of the finance committee, after the third reading of the bill that was passed as an emergency. Miller told council that the tentative draft had the approval of the committee.

Supplementing the bill, council also authorized a pay increase of $240 annually for Miss Esther Snyder, telephone operator at the city building. The ordinance amended the city employes salary ordinance calling for an increase from $960 a year to $1,200.

Council also corrected a salary rate which had been set up incorrectly in the drafting of legislation for the sewer department last March.

Amounts appropriated for the various funds were:

General fund, $278,097; waterworks, $137,846; garbage, $37,135; sanitary sewer, $45,522; police pensions, $8,705; fire pensions, $8,885; public recreation, $3,750; maintenance of highways, streets and traffic lights, $79,240; totals, $596,180. Bond retirement, $132,542. Grand total, $728,722.

REDUCES HOURS

Lutz Bill Would Also Boost Pay of O. S. R. Guards.

A bill to provide a 54-hour work week for guards at the Mansfield reformatory and London prison farm and to increase their salaries $10 a month was introduced in the state legislature yesterday by Ralph C. Lutz, Richland county representative to the general assembly.

The bill would set up a wage scale of $150, $160 and $170 a month for guards as against the present rate of $130, $140 and $150. The increase would make salaries of guards at the two institutions similar to those paid Ohio penitentiary guards.

Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent at the reformatory, said most of the guards at the institution work 60 or more hours per week under the present schedule. The change would put them on a nine-hour schedule six days a week.

Because the big battleships of Uncle Sam's fleet can hold a post at any threatened point—carrying enough ammunition to do effective battle when the enemy comes—experts say the navy is the most important U. S. defense bulwark.

Expansion of the flying force probably would mean the addition of many air fortresses like the new six-gun combat ship. Despite the vast improvement in air armament, however, experts say planes alone cannot protect the coast or keep the sea lanes open.

Experts Agree Sea Power Backbone of U. S. Defense

Warships Still Monarch of Seas But Germany's Vast Air Fleet Forces America to Bolster Strength.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Although huge military air fleets capture the headlines these days, the two great oceans, plus a powerful navy, remain the backbone of United States defense.

In other words, military experts agree that the battleship is still monarch of the seas. But they point out that a superior air fleet could turn the tide in a battle of otherwise quite evenly matched naval forces, a fact recognized by the navy for years with the result that its air force long has been rated the world's finest.

Stronger Air Force Needed.

Advocates of a gigantic air force for the army say it is needed because of European powers' increased plane strength and the definite inclusion of South America's vast coastline in our defense zone.

Germany, the No. 1 air power, is credited with at least 10,000 modern planes with Italy second at 6,000. Army officers say the current U. S. air program of 2,320 planes for the army and 3,000 for the navy might be adequate for defense needs today but at the rate Germany is turning out planes—

PARKING METERS FACING DELAY

Bill Providing for Machines Fails to Come Up at Special Session.

A delay of at least 60 days in calling for bids for the installation of parking meters in Mansfield was seen today when city council, at a special meeting last night, deferred a second reading of an ordinance authorizing the installation of the machines.

With James E. Crum, chairman of council's special committee on parking meters absent, the bill failed to come up for a second reading. The two other members of the committee, Russell D. Porch and George Berg, did not call for the measure.

Crum introduced the ordinance at council's regular session Jan. 4, when it was given its first reading upon his recommendation. Indications are now that a second reading will be held at the next regular meeting Feb. 7 before it comes up for passage in March.

The measure upon approval, authorizes Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist to establish parking meter zones and to provide for the immediate installation of the meters by calling for bids for the leasing of the machines by the city.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(AP)—Miss Mary Warren, 72, native of Piqua, O., died last night of burns which Coroner Lee Hancock said were inflicted when her clothing caught fire as she was lighting a cigaret.

SHOOTS IN AUTO

Cincy Man Wounds Girl, Then Kills Self With Gun.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Charles H. Pottschmidt, 27, died today and his companion, Emily Hamaker, 23, was near death from gunshot wounds which police said apparently were inflicted by the man as the two sat in a parked automobile.

Patrolman George Stein quoted a passing motorist who found the couple late last night as saying Miss Hamaker, a beauty parlor operator, gasped that she had been shot by her companion, who turned the gun on himself. The officer reported an automatic pistol was found at the scene.

Stein said three notes written on one sheet of paper were found in Pottschmidt's coat pocket, which indicated that the bakery manager planned to end the life of the woman and kill himself. Stein said one note was addressed to "Mom," another to "'Ginia," whom the officer described as Pottschmidt's wife.

MUSICA'S TWO DIARIES NAME BLACKMAILERS

Federal Agents Predict More to Be Involved in Drug Swindling Case.

RUSHED TO CAPITAL

Events Covering Period of 16 Years of 'Coster's' Life Seized by Agents.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Two dynamite-laden diaries kept with meticulous detail by F. Donald Coster," the former president of McKesson and Robbins, today came into possession of federal agents, presaging new sensations in the fantastic case.

Among the vital information contained in the two diaries are the names and the amounts "Coster" paid to blackmailers to keep his true identity as Philip Musica, a notorious swindler, a secret, it was learned. When he was finally exposed as the notorious Musica who rose to the presidency of the McKesson and Robbins Drug company and engineered a fantastic dissipation of its assets, "Coster" committed suicide.

Cover 16-Year Period.

The diaries and their explosive information cover a period of 16 years of "Coster's" life, it was learned. They were considered of such great importance that they will be rushed to Washington today for inspection by Brien McMahon, assistant attorney general.

That new charges can be expected in the case was vouchsafed for by one federal official who said:

"As a result of the information in the diaries we expect to be in a position to develop new charges against persons hitherto not connected with the case."

Federal agents launched a hunt for a third diary which they believe would contain details for the years 1928 to 1930. The first diary covers the period from 1920 to 1928 and the second from 1930 to November, 1938. It ends a week before "Coster" blew out his brains.

Study Private Papers.

In addition to the diaries, federal agents will take with them to Washington two bales of correspondence and private papers of "Coster." These are believed to reveal in detail the setup of the non-existent $16,000,000 crude drug department over which he presided.

In the diaries, "Coster" not only wrote the names of those to whom he paid blackmail that may have totaled as much as $50,000 a year but also recorded conversations with his extortioners. Names of men victimized by his frauds are mingled with the names of those who helped him in his fraudulent enterprises.

The diaries for some unaccountable reason had been removed from their hiding place, presumably in "Coster's" home at Fairfield, Conn., according to the fed-

LEASURE GIVEN OHIO CANAL JOB

Storm Center In UCC Fight To Get $4,000 Salary Yearly.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Charles S. Leasure of Zanesville, storm center in the recent fight on Democrats to retain control of the state unemployment compensation commission, got a job today as superintendent of Ohio canal lands.

Gov. Martin L. Davey had sought Leasure's re-appointment to the commission, but confirmation was blocked by eight insurgent Democrats and five Republicans.

Carl G. Wahl, state director of public works, announced that Leasure would succeed E. E. Booton of Columbus, who resigned after serving as agent for canal lands since 1892. The position pays $4,000 a year.

Bricker said cabinet meetings will be held twice a week at regular times to be designated at Friday's meeting. Later, he said, the number of cabinet sessions probably will be cut to one a week.

Jack Benny to Fight Charge of Smuggling

Comedian Free on Bond After Federal Jury Indicts Him.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — No longer the droll comedian of radio and screen, an indignant and grim-faced Jack Benney was free today on the nominal bail of $1,000 until the government can bring him to trial on an indictment charging him with smuggling.

As Benny prepared to return to his chores in Hollywood, the possibility grew that additional film stars will be drawn into the ever-widening web of indictments being returned by the federal grand jury investigating the activities of Albert N. Chaperau. Piqued because his friends failed to come to his aid with bail, Chaperau was reported to be talking freely to the jury.

Before Jury An Hour.

Benny spent an uncomfortable hour or more testifying before the federal grand jury which promptly indicted him and Chaperau on a charge of smuggling, transporting and concealing two diamond clips and a diamond bracelet valued at $2,131. The jewelry apparently was intended for Benny's wife and comedy partner, Mary Livingston, but Benny refused to comment. Spared none of the ignominy required by federal procedure, Benny was fingerprinted and photographed before being released for the trial tentatively set for Jan. 24.

"This is a terrible thing," Benny exclaimed. "I am utterly amazed."

The jewelry involved could have been brought into the country legally for about $800 duty, it was estimated.

Nnlike his friend and fellow comedian, George Burn, who has pleaded guilty, Benny entered a vigorous not guilty plea with the court clerk. His voice trembled with anger.

Chaperau, who boasted of his friendship with film stars, has now been named in a total of five indictments. Three involve smuggling charges with Burns, Benny and Mrs. Elma Lauer, wife of a supreme court justice, as co-defendants. The other two involve passport and citizenship irregularities. Chaperau has been found guilty in the Lauer case in which his contention that he was entitled to immunity as a Nicaraguan commercial attache was rejected. He is listed to be brought to trial next in the Burns case.

The charges against Benny carry a maximum penalty of six years in prison and a $15,000 fine upon conviction. The comedian came to New York by airplane and appeared before the grand jury voluntarily.

$76,000 BLAZE LEVELS CHURCH

80-Year Old Structure Burns; Fire Spreads to Parsonage.

NEWPORT, Ky. —(AP)— Church members surveyed today the ruins of St. John's Protestant congregational church destroyed in a fire at a loss estimated at $76,500.

The blaze, discovered late yesterday on the roof of the 80-year old edifice, spread to the parsonage and a nearby dwelling. Rev. Harold W. Barkhan, pastor, estimated damage to the church at $75,000 and $1,500 to the parsonage and home.

Fire fighters were endangered when the steeple crashed as the roof crumbled. Fire Chief Edward Mills said the blaze probably was caused by defective flues.

DEPOSITS SOAR

Mansfielders' Assets in Banks Up $1,600,000 in 1938.

Deposits in Mansfield banks were swelled by more than a million and a half dollars during 1938, year-end statements of the city's four finnacial institutions showed today.

The total amount of money which Mansfielders have on call in the city's banking institutions increased from $15,222,188 on Dec. 31, 1937 to $16,908,407 on Dec. 31, 1938 for a net gain of $1,686,239.

Total assets of the banks increased from $18,557,698 to $19,384,673.

The four banks whose reports were considered in compiling the figures were the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, the Farmers Saving and Trust company, the Citizens National bank and Trust company, and the Richland Trust company.

Bromfield Finds His Dream Farm

By JANE WILLIAMS

THE quest of Louis Bromfield, Mansfield-born novelist, for a farm in the rolling hills of his native Richland county, has apparently ended. Bromfield, it was learned today has taken an option on 385 acres in Pleasant Valley in Monroe township, about 15 miles southeast of Mansfield.

The famous writer is expected to exercise the option this week when he returns from Washington, D. C.. The property in question is actually two adjoining farms, for which he will pay approximately $37,000, and spend a similar amount in revamping buildings and landscaping.

The author, who returned only last fall to Ohio from Senlis, France, where he had resided for 13 years, has been seeking his "dream farm" in Richland county for the past two months. After looking at dozens of farms that were for sale, he happened, by mere chance, to find just what he wanted—only to learn that it wasn't for sale and most of the land had been in the possession of one family for many years.

Bromfield said that he "looked across the valley and there it was—just as I had dreamed it, a white house, set in rolling hills, with a background of woods and an old orchard, with a lazy stream meandering at its feet." It was Bromfield himself who induced the owners to part with it.

The first public intimation that Bromfield made of the impending purchase was in Washington, D. C., yesterday where he attended a luncheon of the National Women's Press Club, at which he was a speaker.

Congresswoman Jessie Summer of Illinois was also a speaker and engaged in a sharp verbal clash with Bromfield over present conditions. She had said that the banks of America were not loaning money "because of unreasonable federal restrictions on them," when Bromfield interrupted with:

"I can't take that statement too seriously, when, after 25 years absence from Richland county, Ohio, I—a poor author—can walk into a bank and borrow $34,000 to buy a farm."

The author continued to enlarge upon the prosperity of this community: "I returned to a town and county that I remembered as prosperous and find less evidence of poverty and discontent than ever before. I found excellent new roads in my county and even two large new lakes."

SHAFFER TAKES OVER ROAD JOB

Mansfielder Assumes Duties at Ashland, Plans Study of Four Suspensions.

Granted a brief delay to enable him to attend to personal business, Murry D. Shaffer, new state highway engineer in Division No. 3, today assumed his duties at the Ashland headquarters. He was to have started yesterday.

Shaffer, who is living temporarily at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, declined to comment today on the action he might take to determine the status of four state highway employes at Ashland who were suspended last week and the case of another whose job was abolished after all five testified against their former boss, Ivan R. Ault, retiring highway director.

"I have had no opportunity to study the cases, and until I do I will express no opinion," he said.

He added that he expected to be called to Columbus late this week to confer with Col. Robert Beightler, new highway director, on proposed changes in the state highway set-up in the Ashland division, which includes Richland county.

The four highway employes were suspended and the one position abolished after testifying that Ault, former division engineer, solicited campaign funds from workers for Gov. Martin L. Davey in his unsuccessful campaign for re-nomination.

Shaffer, former Mansfield service-safety director who was appointed highway engineer by State Director Beightler, said today he was undecided whether he would make his home in Mansfield or Ashland.

William K. Kroeger late yesterday resigned as state superintendent of building and loan associations "at the convenience" of Charles H. Jones, new commerce director.

John T. Brown state agricultural director, announced the appointment of Don Waters of Elmore as conservation commissioner and H. A. Rider of Springfield as Waters' executive secretary. The commissioner's salary is $5,000 annually.

1,000 to Lose Jobs In Ohio Highway Department In Week

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — State Highway Director Robert Beightler, complying with Governor Bricker's demand for governmental economy, announced today that 1,000 highway department employes would be laid off within a week.

Beightler said lay-offs would be made in all divisions of the department as a retrenchment move.

"This is a retrenchment and they will not be replaced by Republicans," he said.

He added that many of the employes to be laid off had been added to the department payroll in recent months.

This move will save the department about $150,000, he said.

The list of those to be laid off was not available.

Harry D. Metcalf, chief maintenance engineer in the department announced that $900,000 worth of orders for all kinds of materials had been held up in the state finance director's office for "analysis."

"Some of the prices seem to be out of reason," he said. "There is some question as to whether we need all this material. We intend to weed out unnecessary purchases."

He said the orders were placed during the last two weeks of the Davey administration, and that if any firms had started to fill the orders it was "their tough luck."

Paris Told Daladier Informed Briton Won't Talk About Dispute With Dictator.

(By United Press)

ROME — Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain came to Rome today for another "Munich conference" at which he will learn the extent of Premier Benito Mussolini's Mediterranean demands and advance farther along the road to appeasement in Europe.

The special train carrying Chamberlain, Lord Halifax and others of the official British party arrived at 4:18 p. m. Premier Mussolini and Count Galeazzo Ciano greeted the visitors at the station.

Flags Decorate City.

The city was gaily decorated with British and Italian flags and great crowds turned out to welcome Chamberlain.

As Chamberlain came here, both Italian and German sources insisted that Mussolini will not use the threat of the full backing of Fuehrer Adolf Hitler to wring concessions from Chamberlain. They denied Hitler had made any such commitment.

(In Berlin, the foreign office organ, Diplomatic Political Information, published a statement indorsing the claims of Italy in the Mediterranean.)

As Chamberlain stepped from the train, Mussolini shook his hand warmly and Count Ciano likewise greeted Lord Halifax.

The band played "God Save the King" and the Fascist anthem, "Giovinezza." Mussolini and Chamberlain then reviewed an honor guard of grenadiers.

The party passed through the front enclosure of the station, where nearly 1,000 British residents were gathered, shouting:

"Long live Chamberlain! Long live Mussolini!"

'Mind Made Up.'

Mussolini was reported to be prepared to outline his demands on France at his first talk with Chamberlain late today. He was said to be confident of his own strength and if the test came, of the backing of Hitler. Inspired newspaper articles warned that Mussolini's mind was made up and

Hawley Appointed to State Liquor Stores Position

Harry E. Hawley, former Mansfield postmaster and active Republican, today was appointed assistant supervisor of state liquor stores, succeeding A. B. Cook of Chardon, the United Press reported today.

Hawley, whose appointment to a liquor department post was predicted yesterday by The News-Journal, will receive a salary of $4,500 a year. This is a reduction of $500 from the salary paid to Cook.

The appointment was announced by Gov. John W. Bricker. Hawley formerly worked for the state under Joseph T. Tracy when the latter was auditor.

Hawley is the second Mansfielder to receive a major appointment in the Bricker administration. Murray D. Shaffer, former service-safety director here, was appointed head of Division No. 3 of the state highway department, with headquarters in Ashland.

Should He Try To Win Girl?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"Her brother and I were in college together. Then my family went down in a business failure, and I had to quit the university and go to work.

"Civil engineering was the course I had chosen as a profession but I had to give it up. Instead I jerked soda at a chain drugstore, where they majored in sandwiches and fearless food combinations, rather than prescriptions. My college friend didn't desert me, and I was invited to their place at the shore, to spend my two-week vacation last summer.

"There I fell head over heels in love with my friend's sister. Realizing the hopelessness of it, I cut short my vacation, went back to jerking soda. Feeling that the situation was 'way beyond my depth financially, I never went to see the girl. But she used to come to the drugstore and see me. I didn't take up any of her bids, thinking she was amusing herself.

"Then her mother wrote me a nice little note one day, asking me to dinner, so I went. This kind lady helped me to get a job paying $22.50 a week, a position that left my evenings free. Accordingly, I enrolled at night school in the civil engineering class for three nights a week.

"The friendly attitude of this family puzzles me. I haven't anything to offer this girl but all the love of which a man is capable. They must see it, because I act goofy when she's around, turn white, red, stammer—make a rare show of myself. What does all this mean? Shall I go ahead and act as if I were an eligible or should I drop out? Please answer this. The uncertainty has got me.

"HER BROTHER'S FRIEND."

The girl's mother wouldn't have written you that cordial invitation to dinner if she hadn't thought you were all right. Probably she's heard lots of nice things about you from her son. There are mothers who prefer creditable, ambitious, diligent young men as friends of their children, to the country-club type of gilded youth, with lively expectations from a wife's family and expensive tastes.

Now for the more important consideration—the girl herself. She has given you to understand she enjoys your friendship. The rest is up to you. Millions of fine girls have married poor men and made excellent wives. You pay this girl a very poor compliment, indeed, if you think she could be interested in money to the exclusion of those qualities which are yours.

My advice to you is to go in and win. You have love, the girl, her family—all apparently on your side. Don't be one of those unfortunates who fail to recognize a gift of the gods when it comes their way.

When the foliage of house plants becomes spotted, look for over watering or burning from direct sunlight on foliage that has not been accustomed to it.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I have no intention whatever of going to the farm," I told him, "unless, indeed, some emergency of illness requires my presence there."

"Heaven forbid!" my husband exclaimed fervently, and I mentally echoed his prayer, feeling ashamed of myself for having let my temper bring this particular two-edged sword into the conversation.

"Everything is perfectly all right there," I said hastily, "and Katherine, Lillian and Harry are all there."

"And strictly on the job, all three of them," Dicky added reassuringly. "No, I can see no real need of your going out there, but if I don't miss my guess, old Phil will try to wheedle you into spending some time with the royal fugitives."

"Why?" I asked, perturbed. "Do you think he will try to get me away from Mary's side?"

"Not directly, but who can figure out what's in that bird's brain? Or who wants to, for that matter? For that matter, it couldn't do Mary any harm if you did have to go away from the hotel for a day or two, as you did before. Miss Whitlock is she-dragon enough for anybody, or I miss my guess."

"You don't miss your guess," I said quietly, purposely prolonging the conversation, for I began to have an inkling of what he wanted.

"Do you remember my telling you that I might need you on a minute's notice here in the city?"

"Yes, I remember," I said. "I also remember that I told you I would 'stand by' whenever you needed me."

"As you always have," he said with quick, warm appreciation. Then he came over to me, and taking my hands, pulled me up from the chair, facing him.

"Some time I'm going to make up to you for all this faith and trust you've shown me in my moodiness and absent-mindedness, and my unexplained absences," he said. "Just now all I can do is to ask you to trust me a while longer, perhaps through some real tests of your faith."

"I do not intend to fail you, Dicky," I said solemnly, almost as if I were taking a vow, "no matter how cruel the test."

The fervency of my tone surprised him, I think, for he suddenly looked searchingly into my eyes.

"You said that queerly," he commented slowly, "almost as if you knew something, or was afraid of something definite. What is it you're afraid of? Tell me!"

Keep Hands Quiet For Repose

By MME. QUI VIVE

What do your hands say?

There are hands that are ever on the move; they make people frantic. Some highly energized girls aren't content with pleasing gestures.

Men are susceptible to the appeal of pretty hands. They like them poised and quiet. Men love their ease and comfort. After a day at the old job they like to be with a girl who isn't flighty, jumpy, excitable. The witty showoff of a girl may give life to the festive party, but she's not so good for a winter evening beside the fire. And a girl should be calm and responsive so a man can tell her what a great feller he is, a favorite topic with some of the boys.

Capable hands have charm. Those that can bathe a baby, bake a pie, make a frock have interest that is lacking in soft, white, helpless hands. Capable hands don't have to look grubby. Not these days when a jar of cream and a five minute friction will put them in beauty form.

Here is a suggestion: Let her hold her hands palms upward, draw the fingers inward, extend them again, observe the effect of line and movement. The wrist must be flexible so she must wave bye-bye with both hands for five minutes every day to gain suppleness. Massaging the wrists is helpful.

A good duster made of soft, clean, non-scratching, and non-linting cloth can be easily prepared by dipping the cloth into a solution of one tablespoon of kerosene and one quart of water.

Make Family Like Prunes

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

If any members of your family insist they don't like prunes, here's a good way to make 'em eat their words. Just serve one of these delightful prune desserts some night and they'll change their minds. Incidentally, prunes are splendid to serve during those months when fruit isn't so plentiful. They are full of health and sunshine.

Frozen orange prune whip is a grand variation on the prune whip theme. It calls for one egg white, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup prune pulp made by rubbing stoned, cooked prunes through a sieve; one cup cream, one-half cup orange juice, three tablespoons glycerine and one tablespoon lemon juice. Beat egg white stiff and beat in sugar. Add prune pulp which has been mixed with glycerine when cooking. Combine the two mixtures and freeze in tray of automatic refrigerator. The glycerine preserves the prune flavor and makes the whip more smooth.

Prune Parfait.

Prune parfait comes next, and it requires one-half cup granulated sugar, three-quarters cup water, one-quarter cup corn syrup, two cups cooked prunes (well drained), two cups whipping cream and three egg whites. Boil sugar, syrup and water till it spins a thread. Pit and cut prunes in small pieces. Beat egg whites stiff and on them slowly pour the boiling syrup, beating until cool. Add whipped cream and fold in the prunes. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator.

Baked prune whip is next, and for it you'll need one No. 2 can prunes, one-half cup sugar, four tablespoons gycerine, one-half cup lemon juice and five egg whites. Drain prunes and stone. Rub prunes through sieve. To sieved prunes add sugar and glycerine and cook for five minutes. Cool and add lemon juice. Beat egg whites till stiff and fold in prune mixture. Pile lightly in well-buttered baking dish and bake in slow oven (250 F.) for 35 minutes.

Prune bread pudding is a swell cold weather dessert, satisfying, nourishing and tasty. The recipe calls for two tablespoons butter, three slightly-beaten eggs, one-half cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, one tablespoon orange juice, one teaspoon orange rind (grated), one quart milk, three and one-third cups bread (cut in small cubes), one-half cup cooked or canned prunes (pitted and cut in halves). Melt butter and combine with beaten eggs, sugar, salt, orange juice, orange rind and milk. In buttered baking dish arrange bread cubes. Mix prunes into liquid mixture. Pour over bread cubes. Set in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 F.) for 45 to 50 minutes.

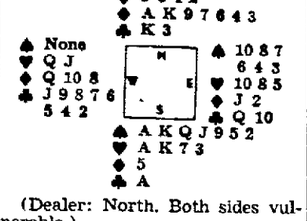
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHOSE GUESS IS IT?

That question is one of the stock jokes in some bridge circles, when the bidding is ended and a careless player is in doubt as to whether it is his lead or his partner's. Pretty logical rules govern the choice of lead, based on the bidding that has been done and the cards that are held. But sometimes the card that seems to be probably the best possible lead turns out to be the worst, and the one which figures to be the worst lead turns out to be the best.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

This deal was bid differently at most tables of a duplicate game, nearly all declarers somehow reached contracts of 7-Spades. The briefest bidding was where North bid 1-Diamond and South went at once to seven. In all cases North bid his diamonds.

At some tables, after a lead of the heart Q, the declarer managed to go down two, losing two trump tricks to East. At several the set was held to one after that lead because the declarer played the hand right. After the heart K won, the spade A disclosed East's trump holding. The heart K was then cashed, club A taken in, diamond A and K played, furnishing a heart discard, and the club K furnishing another, then a heart was ruffed by South, who threw East in the lead with the spade 5 to the 6, only trick lost.

Perfect play was of no value to one declarer, however, because an inexperienced player led the diamond Q, theoretically worst lead in his hand, judging from the bidding. That, however, broke communication between the declarer's holdings, so that he could never get a heart discard on the club K and had to lose a heart and a trump, no matter what he tried to do.

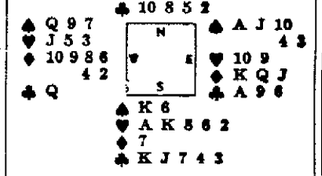
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If your partner was an absolute beginner, playing bridge for the very first time, and you were taking him against two very fair opponents, what would you bid on the South cards of this deal?

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Jan. 12.

THE PLANETARY configurations for this day point to rather mild activities, with affairs moving in routine grooves and with a fair degree of progress and profit. These may arise from change, travel and new business or rearranged methods rather than in the beaten path. It is probable that some things may run contrary to ideas and plans of higher-ups. Also, the physical condition may hamper.

Those whose birthday is is may expect matters to run along in customary grooves during the year, although they might be made more interesting and lucrative by a little forced action—a journey, fresh ideas or some new sort of stimulation. However, such initiative might be opposed by superiors or those in power. "Peppy" letters would help, accenting new slants. But in all be careful with the health.

A child born on this day may be original, fairly enterprising and energetic, with inclinations toward innovations that may not always win support from its superiors. Nevertheless, it should have sound judgment, fresh insight and a versatile mind.

CHAPTER 44

Deep down somewhere even in the best of us is a lingering disciplinarian which keeps us just a little ashamed and helps guide our steps. Usually it is the memory of some ugly deed months or years ago, or of some planned meanness which we didn't quite do.

In the latter classification came Thornton Holgate's adventure in alcoholism. The young college professor had grown up with high ideals, then had clung to them through his adult career. The one lapse, engendered by what he thought was love, really was nothing; he merely purchased a bottle of liquor with the vague intention of drinking it, and never touched a drop. But the memory of that one lapse clung to him ever after, a latent shame. He felt that he had been disgraced in a younger man's eyes, had set a bad precedent to a youth who admired him. Actually, young Worthington Gurley had paid only fleeting attention, thinking the professor was conducting some sort of scholarly research at a dance Worthington was too distraught by the frameup on Sara Sue, the planting of a diamond bracelet by her enemy, Peaches Pomeroy.

"It is a beautiful piece of jewelry," Dr. Holgate was saying, holding the piece and the coat, too.

"Sure. Gosh! It cost plenty, Dr. Holgate, didn't it? Don't you see—I'll bet a dollar that Peaches was going to accuse Sara Sue of stealing it."

"Um." The professor was definitely at a loss. He could prove nothing against Peaches, in one sense. And yet the evidence was damning. She would never have risked so valuable an object in a mere schoolgirl joke, a hoax of some kind. "Doubtless you are right, Gurley. It was—fortunate—that you discovered the matter in time. But—"

"What'll we do, Dr. Holgate?"

"Um Let me see—this is indeed most regrettable, Gurley! Quite disturbing."

"Yes, sir, but what'll we DO?" Worthington believed in action, not meditation.

"We must not move too hastily, lest we do an injustice. Are you sure that this is Sara Sue's coat, and not Miss Pomeroy's own? Perhaps Peaches just made an error, and thought she was putting it in her own coat."

"Aw, naw, hell naw, Dr. Holgate! How could she?" The lad's contempt and anger were profound "She didn't put it in a pocket, did she?"

"No But then she might make a practice of concealing it in this lining. It might be safer there, you see?"

"Naw! That's Sara Sue's coat, I tell you. I checked it in. I was having to be check boy; the sophs made me I helped Sara Sue take it off. I've been with Sara Sue when she wore this coat. That one yonder is Peaches'—that one, see? Anyhow, I saw Peaches tear the hole in the coat, with her fingers and teeth. She looked wild as a hat while she was doing it. Crazy wild, and mean."

That, of course, was sufficient. Gurley could not be mistaken.

Dr Holgate had been hoping to find some way out of the difficulty. Some graceful way. His interest now was more than personal, it was professional, too. It would be a sad thing to have the grand ball disrupted by a public scandal, he realized. Inevitably the police would get news of it, then the newspapers. And he knew from direct experience how the press was headlining Rice news of late.

As a professor, he felt it his duty to weigh the matter carefully. Even if Peaches were no longer the object of his affections, it might be that she had just acted impulsively and would soon be genuinely sorry for her mistake. Jealousy sometimes does strange things. He would not like to see any student persecuted needlessly for one mistake, he told Worthington.

"Nertz, Dr. Holgate!" Gurley was less lenient. "That Pomeroy girl has two horns and a forked tail. Didn't you ever hear what she did to the May queen last year, when she lost out on the voting herself? You oughta get some of the gang to tell you. She—"

"She is just a young person," Dr. Holgate countered. "Irresponsible."

"She's irresponsible, all right. But she's a senior. She's as old as Sara Sue. She's nearly as old as you, I guess You don't look old enough to be a professor."

"It is not a matter of age, Gurley. Being an instructor, I mean."

"No, and it's not when you are being mean, either. That girl is no baby chicken. She's been around What do you think Bob Towne dropped her for? I mean, besides Sara Sue coming along? Say, if she doesn't get by with this, she'll pull some other rank deal on Sara Sue, just to get even."

"Gossip is not to be trusted, Gurley."

"No, not all of it. But if you divided the gossip about Peaches in half, you'd still have a mountain of it. Just happens she's pretty and rich, is all. And so she gets by with murder. She'd buy her way out of this diamond mess if she had to. Or her old man would. What are we going to do?"

"You think, then, that Miss Pomeroy would not be ashamed? Perhaps she would be grateful if we went quietly to her, returned the bracelet, promised to keep our counsel and—"

"Never! Not me I know about women, Dr. Holgate. I'm a married man, and—"

His claim could have been funny, if the situation at hand had not been so serious. Worthington Gurley, bridegroom of three weeks, giving sage advice to a bachelor 10 years older. But then, such is the confidence of youth.

Thornton Holgate was between two fires. He wanted to do the correct thing professionally, as a Rice faculty man, as well as be fair to all concerned. And yet he was so furious at the thought of anyone's endangering Sara Sue's happiness that he wanted to do violence. It strengthened his decision immense to have Gurley condemn Peaches. He felt that he could not have reached an unbiased decision alone. He now blamed Peaches for his own mental stress.

"Justice must be done, of course," he ruled. "It is all very confusing."

"Hey-hey, I'm for justice, too. Hi'ya, Dr. Holgate? What's this about justice? Mathematical or political? Come on and dance. Gimme my coat a minute, will you, slime? Say, what's that you're holding—whew!"

This vocal outburst startled both the professor and the freshman.

Big Bob Towne himself had come down the hallway, unheard on the carpet. He was alone. He wanted a clean handkerchief from his overcoat pocket. But he saw the diamond bracelet in Holgate's hand.

"Oh! Bob!" Gurley spoke first, in answer. "Say—gosh!"

"Um. Mr. Towne. Ah—yes! Yes, we were discussing justice. That is, we—well, to be more accurate, we were discussing this bracelet, ha, ha!" Thornton was upset anew.

"That's Peaches' bracelet. You keeping it for her?" Bob asked. He recognized the piece of jewelry, unmistakably.

"Oh! Oh, is it?" Thornton Holgate swallowed. "We-ah—Mr. Gurley and I were passing, and found it on the floor here. Then we—well, we were at a loss—" He wasn't very good at manufacturing stories, but Bob wasn't watching his face. He was already holding the bracelet, admiring it.

"On the floor, eh? Well, I'll be damned! Peaches ought to lose it for being that careless. This thing's worth a fortune, in case you didn't know. It's rather famous, locally. Lucky for her you found it, and not some thief."

"Oh! Yes. Yes, I'm sure she was careless." The professor and the freshman exchanged strained looks.

Bob had fumbled in his own coat pocket for his handkerchief, without bothering to remove the coat from its hanger. He turned to go back to the ballroom now.

runs a clock 4 days...ELECTRICALLY
Every minute of every day for four days an electric clock will keep perfect time . . . for one cent! That's a pretty small cost when weighed against appointments kept on time, being on time for school, knowing when to tune in your favorite radio program so as not to miss a bit of it. But that's only one of the accurate, patient, never-ending jobs that electricity will do around your home for an extremely small cost. For one cent electricity will operate an electric mixer one and two-thirds hours . . . brew nine cups of perfect coffee . . . burn a 100-watt lamp two hours . . . run the washing machine nearly one hour . . . and countless other jobs. It costs so little to use electricity . . . and the more you use, the less it costs you to use it. And yet electricity is the smallest expense in the average family's annual budget. So use it freely . . . because ELECTRICITY IS CHEAP.

Assembly Cracks Down on Use of State-Owned Autos

HALF MILLION SAVING SEEN THROUGH PLAN

Senator Rogers Declares Use of Vehicles 'Shamefully Abused' in Past.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — A widespread use of automobiles by state officials and employes at taxpayers' expense appeared likely to be curtailed sharply as leaders of the Ohio legislature sought today to rush passage of the $43,000,000 partial appropriation bill.

Appropriations which numerous departments heretofore have received for passenger cars, gasoline, oil and repairs are omitted in the measure providing funds for operation of the state government during the first six months of this year.

Only such agencies, such as the highway patrol, to which automobiles are absolutely essential, are allowed funds for motor vehicles.

Rogers Sees Saving.

Two members of the senate finnace committee, P. H. Rogers (R., Lorain) and Robert A. Pollock (R., Stark) estimated the curtailment would save the state $500,000 in 1939-40.

Senator Rogers said the motor vehicle privilege had been "shamefully abused."

State-owned cars frequently have been used on personal trips throughout the state, for political meetings, week-end vacations and sporting events, he asserted.

Senator Pollock said members of the state finance committee counted 60 passenger automobiles in the state garage here at noon one day and that many more undoubtedly were on the highways.

Rogers said part of the machines probably would be sold and the remainder would be placed in the garage for emergency use only. On them would be painted: "Property of the state of Ohio—for official use only."

Some of the members of the governor's cabinet in the past have been allowed an automobile and chauffeur.

Frank E. Whittemore, Republican floor leader in the senate, said he hoped the house and senate would complete passage of the appropriation bill by nightfall.

Quick passage is necessary to avoid impeding operation of state departments. In addition, protests are coming in because of the administration's action in cutting approximately $3,000,000 from the budget bill as it was originally prepared by the previous administration.

Woman Loses Eye and Two Fingers in Dynamite Blast

LOUDONVILLE — Mrs. James Shane 27, of McZena, eight miles north of here, was in a critical condition in Wooster city hospital today suffering from burns and injuries received when a dynamite cap exploded early Monday evening in the kitchen of her home.

Mrs. Shane suffered the loss of her left eye and the thumb and third finger of her right hand, and severe lacerations of the chest.

Two daughters, Joyce Ann and Vonda Lee, were in the house with Mrs. Shane when the explosion occurred. The dynamite cap was found in the yard by Vonda Lee, 6, it was reported. The child gave the cap to her mother, who not knowing what it was, placed it on a windowsill in the kitchen where it exploded, authorities were told. The explosion tore a large hole in the kitchen wall.

DIES IN HOUSE OF BIRTH AT 72

Mrs. Emeline Stone Stricken Today Near Steam Corners.

Mrs. Emeline Stone, 72, of near Steam Corners, died early today at her home there.

Mrs. Stone was born in the same house in which she made her home, and would have celebrated her 73rd birthday anniversary Jan. 20. She was preceded in death by her husband, Thomas, eight years ago.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Charles Sherrick of Ashland and Mrs. Ned Clement of near Bellville; a son, Guy, at home, and a sister, Mrs. Almeda Foster, of Galion.

Funeral services will be held Friday. Other arrangements are incomplete.

LOSES DRIVING RIGHTS

Convicted in county juvenile court of reckless driving without an operator's permit, Douglas James Hill, 17, Mansfield, lost his driving rights for 60 days and was paroled to his father. Judge C. J. Anderson suspended the youth's driving rights on testimony of State Patrolman W. H. Harrison who arrested Hill Saturday night on route 30S just west of Mansfield.

Cleveland to Fight 11-Cent Gas Rate Hike

Up and Down THE STREET

Central park lost one of its oldest shade trees today. Decaying rapidly and considered dangerous to passersby, a large maple tree just east of the fountain was felled by city workers who manipulated the tree so that it scarcely touched another object as it crashed to the earth. "It must be nearly 100 years old," said Jacob Rahm, city parks superintendent, who planned to count the rings in the tree stump.

This is only January, but, apparently, Mansfielders are attempting to make themselves believe that spring is just around the corner. Every possible sign indicating spring has been discovered. The latest "sign" is a dandelion in bloom. It was found by Frederick Kunert, 78 Levington avenue, in south Mansfield. It is unusual for the plant to bloom before April.

With its flesh torn and the sight in one eye gone, a small fox terrier dog is receiving care deserving of a hero at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray S. Osbun, 90 Poplar street. The pet dog received his injuries while defending his eight-year-old mistress, Nancy Rae Osbun, and her pet kitten from an attack by a police dog. The huge dog lunged at the kitten and when Nancy Rae went to its rescue, the dog turned on her, members of the family said. Defending both of them, the terrier battled with the police dog until help arrived. Neither the child nor the kitten was hurt.

Harold W. Arlin, supervisor of industrial relations at Westinghouse, blossomed out as an author in a recent issue of the National Safety News, a magazine published by the National Safety Council. His article, illustrated with a number of pictures, deals with personal protection for electrical mantenance men. Incidentally, the article was a speech first, one which Arlin gave last fall at a safety conference at the Stevens hotel in Chicago. Arlin has been active in safety groups in Mansfield for a number of years.

HANDLES 1,038 CASES IN YEAR

Solicitor's Report Shows 158 of Criminal Actions Heard in City Court Contested.

A total of 1,038 criminal cases were handled in municipal court in 1938, City Solicitor Marion D. Ward, jr., reported to city council last night.

Of this number, 522 were state cases and 516 were city cases. Prosecution was required in 158 contested cases in which the defendants pleaded not guilty, the report stated. There was 107 convictions in this number and 51 dismissals because of the lack of sufficent evidence, he said.

Out of the 50 felonies investigated, all were bound over to the county grand jury.

The report showed one trial by jury in city court. The defendant who was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol was acquitted.

A number of damage actions against the city required more attention of the city's law department than in several years, Ward said. Five cases totaling $45,730 in damages resulted in the payment of $4,100, Ward reported.

In addition to the daily criminal sessions in municipal court, the report showed that the solicitor prepared 101 ordinance and 76 resolutions for city council, and gave scores of legal opinions to city officials.

COUNCIL AUTHORIZES RENEWAL OF 3 CONTRACTS WITH HOSPITAL

Three contracts with General hospital which expired on Dec. 31 and which call for the care of indigent patients and laboratory work to be done for the health department, were authorized for renewal by city council last night.

The legislation in each case authorized Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist to enter into contracts in behalf of the city.

The contract for laboratory services provides for the payment of $115 a month by the city for regular milk analysis as ordered by the health commissioner and for weekly analysis of the city's water. In the event of emergencies tests are to be made as deemed necessary by the health commissioner.

One of the other contracts to be renewed with the hospital is for indigent care for which the city is to pay $4.25 daily per patient, and includes all expenses fo operations, room service, anesthetic, medical supplies, nursing and x-rays.

The third contract is with staff physicians of the hospital for medical and surgical work performed for indigent patients at an annual fee of $5,000.

Council in the annual appropriations bill set aside $17,000 for hospital care for indigents which is to include ambulance service and burials. This is an increase of $3,000 over the amount that was appropriated for the same purpose during 1938.

Service-Safety Director Nist explained that the city had run $7,000 over the appropriation for last year and that the amount deducted from this year's appropriation for payment of outstanding bills would leave only a balance of $10,000, or $4,000 less than the amount set aside last year.

Plans for the state convention of township trustees and clerks to be held in Columbus Jan. 26-28 were outlined at the session last night by J. R. Thomas, Hayesville, state president of the organization.

CITY PREPARES TO APPEAL PUCO RATE SCHEDULE

Re-hearing Demanded Before State Commission; Mayor Leads Campaign.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND — The city of Cleveland today prepared to appeal to the Ohio supreme court the decision yesterday of the state utilities commission which raised gas rates in the city 11 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, if it is unable to get a rehearing.

The commission ruled that a rate averaging 68.88 cents a thousand cubic feet was "reasonable." A city ordinance of 1937, establishing an average rate of 55.2 cents, was set aside by the decision, and the East Ohio Gas company planned to raise the rates charged immediately to the figure established by the commission. The company, under bond, had been charging an average of 57.2 cents, the rate set by council in 1931.

Would Go to Court.

The city will take its case to the state supreme court unless it is able to get a rehearing before the utilities commission, Mayor Harold H. Burton said. The city also will attempt to prevent the charging of the new rate until the federal power commission has determined the proper rate for interstate gas at the Ohio river, the mayor added.

The East Ohio Gas company buys gas from the Hope Natural Gas company of West Virginia.

"We are not ready to concede," Burton declared in a statement, "that the new rates are correct or that they should be collected, even temporarily, pending the fixing of the Ohio river rate by the federal power commission."

The commission's decision was expected to result later in the raising of rates in suburbs, also, with the Cleveland rate used as a basis of determination.

COUNTY ESCAPES

Wouldn't Be Affected by Plan for Re-districting.

The 17th congressional district, which includes Richland county, would be unchanged if the Gillespie-Harter "gerrymander" bill introduced in the state legislature should be enacted, International News Service dispatches from Columbus said today.

The 17th district includes Richland, Ashland, Knox, Delaware, Coshocton and Licking counties.

Cuyahoga county would be given four congressional districts, while Ashtabula, Geauga, Lake and Portage counties would form the 24th district. Summit county alone, would constitute the 14th.

Lorain and Medina counties, now in the 14th with Summit and Portage counties, would join the 13th district under the new bill introduced by Representatives Chester Gillespie, (Republican, Cuyahoga) and George Harter, (Democrat, Summit).

On the basis of the last general census Ohio has been entitled to 24 congressmen, two more than previously. Since legislative action is required, however, to re-district the state, two congressmen have been elected "at large."

GEN. JOHNSON:

Roosevelt Adds Records For Name-Calling as He Talks on Party Loyalty

—By HUGH S. JOHNSON

NEW YORK CITY—To the gentle art of political name-calling, the president's Jackson day speech added two new records. A Republican who does not agree with him is a tweedledum. A disagreeing Democrat is a tweedledee and he is invited to get the hell out of the Democratic party and join the Republican or Tweedledum-Tweedledee party.

The whole speech was much milder than usual, and surely a Democrat who disagrees, if he has to be called anything, would rather be called a tweedledee than a southern feudalist. It was milder, but the theme is the same. If a Democrat doesn't agree with the boss on everything from "making America over' to horning into the world's war madness, he is no liberal, no Democrat, and his place is in the doghouse in the outer dark.

There are lots of people who would prefer to agree when they think the boss is right and disagree in the contrary sense. There are many who think they were Democrats long before the strange and distinctly non-democratic theories of extravagance, centralization of federal power, unbalanced budgets and class struggle were heard of as Democratic doctrine, and certainly long before such Republicans or Socialists or neutrals as Ickes, Wallace, Hopkins, Perkins, Corcoran, Cohen and Eccles were known as Democratic leaders.

These bewildered veterans could not understand Mr. Hopkins, who used to be a Socialist, when he said something to the effect that they had stolen the livery of democracy to act as traitors from within.

They didn't in the least understand the president when he suggested on Jackson day that they had eased themselves into Democratic party councils to frustrate democratic aims. But they would prefer to be called "tweedledees" for their beliefs than to be dubbed "copperheads," as was done by the boss before the November elections.

The truth, fortunately or unfortunately, is that while the G. O. P. always used to have a pretty fair party discipline and regularity, the Democrats never have had either for very long.

Dough and danger whipped the Democrats pretty well into line in the perilous days of the depression and up to the last congress. Then some of them rebelled at being whipped into line on policies which were the very negation of democracy. For part of the disunion of which the president complains, he has his own policies to blame—exclusively.

Such were the attempts to weld into one party on a complete revolution in party doctrine such opposed interests as the solid south and the northern colored people, midwestern agriculture and the more radical elements in the labor movement, "states' rights," Democrats and totalitarian Socialists or even Communists. If you put a cat and terrier into the same pen, you may have an interesting and exciting experience, but unity is a little too much to expect.

Against reactionary pre depression conservatism, these discordant political groups may vote on election day if that is their only choice, but you can't expect tranquility in the off seasons.

Neither in the Democratic party nor in the nation can political unity be obtained by threats, whether of an unlikely military assault or that the Liberty league will get you if you dare to think. The leader of that party and of the nation would get more unity if he would let more policies develop within the party or the people instead of handing them down so many ready-made from the top.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It would be false as well as trite to remark that a movie army travels on its stomach. Everyone knows—or should know—that a movie man, however humble his status in the professions, travels only on his artistic aspirations. The stars especially think only of their Art—just like Sam Goldwyn.

I use Mr. Goldwyn in this connection not only because he—as everyone knows—is Hollywood's last word in Art. Last word and first and coin-your-own if he doesn't beat you to it. I use Mr. G. also because through him, in the very Temple of Art, I have come face to face with the astounding realization that even on Olympus the gods must eat.

It was out at Mr. Goldwyn's Yorkshire, England (in the Conejo Hills, 50 miles from Hollywood) that I saw Kenny Leighton facing the same realization, although I daresay it was not new to him. Unlike me, Mr. Leighton had to do something about it, that being his business.

Mr. Leighton is a steward in the employ of a large firm which undertakes to house and feed movie location companies. He was up at Yorkshire (which is really a section of Mr. Richard Olsen's Ventura county ranch) to supervise the feeding and housing of some 470 souls and stomachs attracted there because Mr. Goldwyn, some months ago, decided to make a movie of Emily Bronte's "Wuthering Heights."

Mr. Leighton will be there until the last yes-man has departed and Mr. Olsen's peaceful hills no longer echo to crisp British accents from the lips of Merle Oberon, Laurence Olivier, Flora Robson and David Niven.

Mr. Leighton learned about wholesale feeding when his company operated the commissary at the Boulder dam site. Film feeding is a little different. Movie camps in general allow $3 per man per day for feeding.

The stars, in Mr. Leighton's wide experience on movie Saharas, Indias, Chinas and Yorkshires, require no special attention (and it's nice of you to say that, Mr. L.!) However, a man in his business must be alert, and its good for him to know that Miss Oberon takes only warm milk for lunch, that Mr. Niven is loyally British in his devotion to an abundance of meat and potatoes, that Mr. Olivier dotes especially on preserved fruits and other sweets.

Such items cannot be listed as necessary information for a caterer, but they do help to make location life smoother.

Like a movie star, Mr. Leighton has his dark professional moments. One of these came up at Lone Pine (for "Gunga Din") when late one afternoon 700 hungry extras were disgorged upon him by buses—with the day's food supply held up below by a truck breakdown. Salads and sandwiches staved off a crisis until by mobilizing everything on wheels (including the camera truck) he moved up the delayed meal.

It was on the same trip—file this for reference when Cary Grant dines at your house—that he learned how to make Mr. Grant very uncomfortable if not ill. It's simple: Just set down near Mr. G. a nice plate of creamed chipped beef.

ESTIMATE COSTS OF NEW ADDITION TO STAND AT FAIR PARK FOR BASEBALL.

By OSCAR RUHL,
News-Journal Sports Editor.

ESTIMATES on the costs of the construction of an addition to the grandstand at the Fairground are being taken this week.

The estimates are being made by the fair board at the request of Norman Cohen, who is seriously considering the purchase of the Mansfield franchise in the Ohio State league.

If the costs are not prohibitive, the addition will be built to improve the park for baseball.

Cohen's idea is to construct bleachers from the box seats in the grandstand down to the picket fence bordering the outside of the race track.

While these additional seats may not be needed to accommodate the average crowd, Cohen believes that the extension of the grandstand toward the diamond would make the Fairground more suitable for baseball.

As Cohen's plans are to shift the diamond closer to the grandstand, the changes would bring the play up as near to the spectators as in the majority of the baseball park.

The distance of the grandstand from the playing field made the Fairground undesirable for baseball in the past, and if Cohen can affect the changes he now plans, it is believed that all criticism from this standpoint would be eliminated.

Under the present plans, the extension would not be covered, but this is of minor importance as seats in many ball parks extend beyond the roof.

The fair board is heartily in accord with Cohen's recommendations, we understand, as the larger grandstand could also be used to advantage for the county fair.

Playing Area May Be Reduced, Too.

COHEN has accomplished much toward making the return of Mansfield to organized baseball a reality, and, while we don't know what type of a ball club he can place in the city, we believe that he is pretty well set on giving the city one of the best ball parks it has had in years.

As explained previously, Cohen's plans are to play night baseball. The only daylight games would be staged on Saturdays and Sundays.

It may be difficult to light the Fairground due to the large playing surface, but lighting engineers might recommend a reduction in the playing area.

This can be accomplished by the erection of a temporary fence in left field, which is now deeper than any field in major league parks.

The distance of home plate from the left field fence under the present setup is more than 500 feet.

Cohen is expected to return to the city within the next few days to consider the estimates, and, if the cost of the extension and park rental are agreeable, he is expected to take over the franchise of the Mansfield club at a league meeting set for next week.

Willard Bows to Crestline

Winners Put Game on Ice in Last Minute.

WILLARD—In a nip-and-tuck battle in which the lead changed hands on several occasions, Crestline high edged Willard, 26 to 23, here last night in the renewal of a rivalry lapsed nearly 10 years ago.

Crestline held a 22 to 17 advantage going into the fourth period, but three field goals by Vern Hurst gave the Crimson Flashes a one-point lead.

With less than a minute to go, Fisher tallied for Crestline with what proved to be the winning score. Harrison added another basket for good measure.

Harrison led the Crestline scoring with 10 points, while Hurst was high for the hosts with eight. Emmer of Crestline and G. Jenney and Booth of Willard were forced out of the game on personals.

Stays on Feet, But Loses Nod

Arizmendi Again Beaten by Henry Armstrong.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)— Henry Armstrong, champion of the world's welter and lightweight boxers, successfully fought off the challenge of Baby Arizmendi, the rugged little Mexican, in their fifth encounter last night.

Duplicating their last two clashes, it was a gruelling battle for ten rounds that kept more than 10,000 spectators in an uproar, with both fighters standing toe to toe, shoulder to shoulder, like two tiny bulls, and hammerin' Henry emerging the winner by a decisive but hard earned margin.

The Tampico kid left the ring a beaten man, one side of his face covered with blood. But he could point to a record unequaled by anyone else in the fight game.

He had just finished his 52nd round opposite Henry Armstrong with never a knockdown scored against him; nor had he been seriously hurt.

Cedarville Next for Ashland Five

ASHLAND — Riding the crest with six straight victories, Ashland college's Eagles are nevertheless indulging in a little quiet finger-crossing this week as they get into the heart of their cage schedule minus two star players. Bob Sprague, ace forward, and Virgil Scobey, flash center, are slated for the sidelines this week because of injuries in last week's tilt with Heidelberg.

The Eagles, however, draw some courage from the fact that they defeated Bluffton Saturday night without the services of these two first stringers and hope to keep the record clear as they meet Cedarville here Thursday night and Ohio Northern at Ada Saturday with a revamped line-up.

Wrestling Stages Comeback at Mansfield High School

WRESTLING is staging a comeback at Mansfield high school this winter. The sport which was discontinued several years ago due to a lack of interest, has been revived by the newly organized Wrestling club. Fred Gordon is president of the club and Frank Swartz, treasurer.

The team is showing promise of developing into a strong aggregation, and it is likely that it will be entered in the district eliminations to be staged in the spring.

The Tyger grapplers will make their second appearance of the season at Wadsworth at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. They dropped their opening match to Akron Garfield.

Matmen being groomed for the Thursday matches are Sheldon Perrine, 105; Bob McDonough, 115; Fred Gordon, captain, 125; Joe Tamburina, 135; Albert Young, 145; Rube Sorg, 155; Frank Swartz, 165, and Jack Swartz, 185.

Floyd Million, who is serving as head coach of the grapple squad is being assisted by Vern Heiser, former Mansfield high and Ohio State star, and J. C. Gorman.

Gorman, who introduced wrestling at Lehigh university, now one of the eastern mat powers, has been instrumenetal in reviving the sport at Mansfield high this season.

Tygers Defeat Ashland By 35-18 Count

Scott, Lyons Play Stellar Roles as Mansfield High Cops Third Straight Victory.

By OSCAR RUHL

MANSFIELD HIGH'S former foes in the North Central Ohio conference are finding the Tygers rather hard to handle on the court this winter.

Coach Russ Murphy's courtiers spanked Shelby by a convincing margin in their opening game back in December, and they made it two straight over old conference rivals last night when they spilled Ashland by a 35 to 18 count on the home planks before a crowd estimated at 1,000.

The Tygers again showed up well in every department of play last night as they registered their third straight victory, but it was their plain and fancy shooting that featured the fracas.

Score at Will.

Mansfield never showed to better advantage on the offense than against Ashland. The Men of Murphy took shots from every conceivable angle as they did last Saturday when they walloped Cleveland West, and the percentage of tosses that they caged was above average.

Playing a fast, steady game from start to finish, the Tygers held the upper hand all the way after the opening minutes. Mansfield also held a height advantage that enabled it to control the ball virtually all the way.

Outstanding for Mansfield again last night were Tommy Scott and Jake Lyons, who divided 18 of the 35 points. Their ball handling and defensive play were particularly effective.

Jack Dugger and Dave Shelley were right behind Scott and Lyons in the scoring column with seven and six points, respectively, and their work around the basket on the defense gave Ashland only a limited number of rebounds. Jack Rose also turned in a creditable performance.

Ashland was able to obtain only eight baskets as it was completely outplayed by the Tygers, particularly after Phil Smith was forced to leave the game a minute before the close of the first half because of an injury.

Smith, who is Ashland's chief scoring threat, knocked his right shoulder out of joint when he fell after a jump ball. He was carried off the court and taken to General hospital where the injured shoulder was treated.

Mansfield never trailed once in the heated battle in which the smaller A's were called 10 times for infractions, while the Tygers were penalized only five times.

Neither team scored until five minutes of the first period elapsed. Then Dugger slapped a rebound through the strings to give the Tygers their first lead. Smith knotted the count with a stunning one-handed shot from behind the foul line.

Scott followed with another rebound a minute later to give the Tygers an advantage that it held the rest of the evening. The first period ended with the Tygers in front by a 7 to 2 count.

After giving the visitors, who are undefeated in the conference, a basket at the start of the second quarter, the Tygers piled up eight points before permitting the A's another basket. Mansfield was in front by a 15 to 6 margin at the intermission.

The third and fourth periods were repetitions of the first two, with Mansfield outplaying Ashland continually.

Last night's defeat was only the second for the A's, whose only other setback was registered by Sandusky by a 30 to 21 score last Saturday.

Reserves Walloped.

The Mansfield reserves were never in the preliminary game which was annexed by the visiting Jay Vees, 22 to 10. Ashland grabbed a 9 to 2 lead in the first period, held a 14 to 5 edge at the half and went into the final quarter sporting a 16 to 8 margin.

The No. 2 Mansfield reserve team lost to the Jitterbugs, 24 to 13, in another preliminary game.

Babe Ruth Treated for Heart Attack

NEW YORK — (AP) — Babe Ruth, baseball's all-time home run king, was under treatment in French hospital today for a slight heart attack.

Bellowing cheerfully at visitors, the 45-year-old Babe was more worried over the critical illness of his former boss—Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees—than his own ailment.

"Hell, I'm all right," he said. "Just a check up. Guess I've been exercising too much trying to work off this belly."

Title Shoot Arranged By Rifle Clubs

Mansfield, Gasco Marksmen Open Series Friday.

A series of six matches to determine the club gun championship of Mansfield has been arranged by the Gasco and Mansfield rifle and pistol club, it was revealed today.

The two clubs will open their six-match series at the Gasco club, located on South Main street, at 7:30 p. m. Friday. The location of the matches will be alternated between the two ranges each week.

As target shooting has gained great popularity in the city during the last few years, the match is expected to attract considerable interest. All of the outstanding shooters in the city will participate in the matches.

Among the shooters with the Mansfield club are Dale Arnold, who is enjoying one of his best years on the range; L. S. Barr, "Fleet" Corwin and Cosgrove.

The Marvicsin brothers, Mike and Mel; Harold Diller, Frey and Hassinger will shoot with the Gasco club. Diller is the holder of the Class C midwest rifle championship, won last summer in Columbus.

The two clubs will be permitted to enter as many shooters as desired in the matches, but only the five high individual scores of each team will count in determining the results.

This match will support the meeting between the Great Mephisto and Whitey Wahlberg, major light heavyweight title contenders. The winner will be matched against Champion Billy Weidner in a title match at the Armory next week, according to Promoter Tim Nolan.

The tie for fourth place in the Class A Church league standings may be eliminated tonight when play is resumed at the Y. M. C. A.

Park Avenue Baptist, Temple Emanuel and Central M. E. are tied for the position, but as two of the teams involved in the deadlock meet tonight, one club at least will be eliminated.

The Temple and Baptist quintets will tangle in the first game at 6:45 p. m., while Central M. E. draws a tough customer in the first place First Lutherans in the second game on tonight's card.

Mayflower and First M. E., tied for second place, meet St. John and Episcopal, respectively, in the other games.

THEATERS

PRODUCTION NOTES: Alla Nazimova has returned to Hollywood after a 13-year absence, to assist the director on sequences of "Zaza," one of her early stage successes. . . . Ray Milland is the second brother selected for "Beau Geste," Gary Cooper having the title role. . . . "Stand Up and Fight," the Robert Taylor-Wallace Beery picture, is predicted to be rated one of the best of the new year. . . . Franciska Gaal, the little Viennese who made her first appearance with Freddy March in "The Buccaneer," will have a role in the next Bing Crosby picture. . . . The film based on the life of Valentino is being held up because there is no actor in Hollywood or on Broadway fitted to play the lead.

Double Feature at Madison.

The first double feature bill at the Madison brings two first run pictures there for three days, starting Thursday. Both are of the "thrill" variety, "Ride a Crooked Mile," with Akim Tamiroff, and "Burn 'Em Up O'Connor." In the first Leif Erikson and Frances Farmer, man and wife in real life, play the young lovers who meet in the house of the one time Russian Cossack who becomes a racketeer in America Dennis O'Keefe, dynamic young newcomer, and Cecelia Parker head the cast in a murder mystery in which murder at 159 miles an hour is the climax, in the second feature.

Color Perfection.

It is a far cry from the first all-color picture drama to the present "Sweethearts" in Technicolor. In the first "Vanity Fair," made several years ago, the colors were so brilliant and unnatural that they detracted from the story and action. In the film version of the Victor Herbert operetta, in which Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald are starred, the color is so amazingly real and beautiful that it is the most frequently-mentioned feature of the film. The flesh tones are particularly noteworthy in this Ohio attraction.

"Slander House."

The "Slander House" of the feature at the Park theater, opening tomorrow, is a modern beauty salon, where the town's scandal is brought daily and dumped out for more or less public consumption. Adrienne Ames, as the operator of the exclusive salon, is interested — until her own romance goes blooey, and then she sees her "Slander House" in a different light. Second feature is "Flight to Fame," with Charles Farrell and Jacqueline Wells.

City Cowboy.

The hilarious adventures and misadventures of a Brooklyn crooner who goes west in order to make a hit so that he will be a sensation in the east, is told in "Cowboy From Brooklyn," at the Ritz. The best way to make a hit as a cowboy crooner, he figures, is to be a cowboy crooner. A dude ranch is the locale for much of the action. Priscilla Lane, Dick Foran, Pat O'Brien and Johnny Davis are in the story. "Tom Sawyer," with Tommy Kelley, is also shown.

Girl With a Past.

Joan Crawford and Spencer Tracy in "Mannequin," the dramatic story of a self-made millionaire and a beautiful girl who has a tenement home and a worthless husband in her past, is a current attraction at the Majestic. Also being shown there is "Beg, Borrow or Steal"—which refers to a castle for a marriage setting—with Frank Morgan, John Beal and Florence Rice. The bill runs through Thursday.

Court Evicts 137 In Year But None Land in Street

One hundred thirty-seven Mansfield families were evicted from their homes by court actions filed in municipal court last year—but not a single one was moved out without some prospects of shelter.

While court action makes it mandatory that the bailiff move the family from the premises, a procedure which occurs in many cities, August Schultz, court bailiff, contends that a different policy is followed here.

"Rather than set people and their possessions out on the sidewalk, with no immediate prospects for shelter, we have followed a plan of helping them to locate temporary quarters or work out some agreement with the landlord," Shultz says.

In this respect, the bailiff's duties and those of Mrs. Freda Gorby, deputy clerk, have approximated welfare work. They have spent many hours outside of their regular duties finding shelter for families on whom they have served eviction notices, although it is not required by the court.

In eviction cases—or forcible detention—as they are carried on the court records, a minimum of 20 days is given a family to move. The family is first served with a three day written notice to vacate the premises and then a petition for forcible removal is filed and the family has 10 days in which to vacate.

TRADERS WATCH FOR SIGNS OF MAJOR UPSWING

Stock Market Resumes Slow Downdrift After One-Day Rally Stand.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK — (UP) — A mild rallying tendency developed in dealings on the stock market today after an earlier recession of fractions to more than 2 points. Douglas Aircraft scaled an early loss or more than 2 points by more than a point. U. S. Steel cut down a loss of nearly 2 points to around a point.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market resumed its slow downdrift today after a one-day rally stand.

Traders seemed unwilling to follow through on the advance until there was more convincing indication of a resumption of the 1938 major upswing.

Slipping were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Union Carbide, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, New York Central, Cerro De Pasco and American Can.

Indications of widening recovery in some of the depressed heavy industries bolstered hopes for more business improvement when the usual spring stimulus to activity comes into play.

The "Iron Age" noted, however, that steel buyers were pursuing a "cautious hand-to-mouth buying" policy.

Recovery Signs in Evidence as Washington Front Holds Market Interest.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Steels and aircrafts improved in today's stock market and elsewhere faint recovery signs were in evidence.

Favored were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Glenn Martin, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, N. Y. Central, Anaconda, Kennecott, North American, Goodrich, du Pont and Standard Oil of N. J.

Business news on the whole, continued moderately cheerful from a market standpoint, but the Washington front held most of Wall Street's attention.

Bonds and commodities were mixed. European securities markets were quiet.

Followers of the motor stocks noted estimates from this field that retail sales of new automobiles in January probably would drop between 10 and 15 per cent under December.

A drop for the rails was seen in preliminary freight loadings figures for the first week of the new year which indicated an increase over the like 1938 period.

NEW COMPOUND COMBATS BURNS OF MUSTARD GAS IN WAR TIME

GENEVA, N. Y. —(AP)— A new chemical compound for virtually complete protection for soldiers and civilians against one of war's worst horrors, the burns of mustard gas, was announced by officials of Hobart college.

"Mustard," 20 years after the World war, still rates as the most effective poison gas. The new chemical, sprayed on clothing, is announced as protecting for months against the burns.

The discoverer is Dr. Ralph H. Bullard, professor of chemistry, member of the American Chemical society and several honorary science organizations, formerly an industrial chemist. The formula of the chemical is not made public.

Because of its ability to cause contact burns, mustard has been used to saturate the ground to render areas of military importance temporarily untenable. Although little has been said about this, the newer mustard gases are expected to make this burning threat last for days, and for weeks if there is no rain.

"Mustard gas coming in contact with treated clothing immediately is neutralized and becomes harmless as the air itself. The preparation is harmless to human beings and treated clothing can be worn without any discomfort whatever," the announcement said.

Cornell Trustees Start Plans for $6,000,000 Drive

This special committee, led by Trustee Bancroft Gherardi, former vice president and chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, will make a "sustained effort" to raise these funds, considered "necessary to maintain the high standards of Cornell's engineering education," President Edmund E. Day has announced.

Two new engineering buildings would be erected as soon as possible to house the chemical engineering laboratories, and another would provide a modern materials and etallurgy laboratory.

COUNCIL OKAYS $728,000 CITY FINANCE BILL

1939 Appropriation Ordinance, Recommended by Committee, Passed Without Comment.

GENERAL FUND UP $1,200

$278,000 Set Up for Operating Expenses; Lone Change Made in Measure.

With one minor change, city council last night placed its stamp of approval on the 1939 appropriation ordinance allocating $728,722 for the operation of the city government this year.

Since members of council were familiar with its contents, the detailed appropriations were not read and it was accepted on recommendations from the finance committee which drafted the bill last week.

Slight Increase.

A total of $278,097 is set up in the general fund for the year, which represents an increase of only $1,200 more than was appropriated for operating purposes during 1938.

Passage of the measure assures city employes of their pay on the regular semi-monthly payday Saturday and makes it possible for the city to transact other financial matters. Neither could have been undertaken until passage of the measure.

The lone change in the ordinance involved a $225 item which had been set up for new furniture for municipal court, but which had been ordered stricken from the bill as an economy move by the finance committee.

Authorize Pay Boost.

The only comment on the measure was made by Fred Miller, chairman of the finance committee, after the third reading of the bill that was passed as an emergency. Miller told council that the tentative draft had the approval of the committee.

Supplementing the bill, council also authorized a pay increase of $240 annually for Miss Esther Snyder, telephone operator at the city building. The ordinance amended the city employes salary ordinance calling for an increase from $960 a year to $1,200.

Council also corrected a salary rate which had been set up incorrectly in the drafting of legislation for the sewer department last March.

Amounts appropriated for the various funds were:

General fund, $278,097; waterworks, $137,846; garbage, $37,135; sanitary sewer, $45,522; police pensions, $8,705; fire pensions, $8,885; public recreation, $3,750; maintenance of highways, streets and traffic lights, $79,240; totals, $596,180. Bond retirement, $132,542. Grand total, $728,722.

REDUCES HOURS

Lutz Bill Would Also Boost Pay of O. S. R. Guards.

A bill to provide a 54-hour work week for guards at the Mansfield reformatory and London prison farm and to increase their salaries $10 a month was introduced in the state legislature yesterday by Ralph C. Lutz, Richland county representative to the general assembly.

The bill would set up a wage scale of $150, $160 and $170 a month for guards as against the present rate of $130, $140 and $150. The increase would make salaries of guards at the two institutions similar to those paid Ohio penitentiary guards.

Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent at the reformatory, said most of the guards at the institution work 60 or more hours per week under the present schedule. The change would put them on a nine-hour schedule six days a week.

Because the big battleships of Uncle Sam's fleet can hold a post at any threatened point—carrying enough ammunition to do effective battle when the enemy comes—experts say the navy is the most important U. S. defense bulwark.

Expansion of the flying force probably would mean the addition of many air fortresses like the new six-gun combat ship. Despite the vast improvement in air armament, however, experts say planes alone cannot protect the coast or keep the sea lanes open.

Experts Agree Sea Power Backbone of U. S. Defense

Warships Still Monarch of Seas But Germany's Vast Air Fleet Forces America to Bolster Strength.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Although huge military air fleets capture the headlines these days, the two great oceans, plus a powerful navy, remain the backbone of United States defense.

In other words, military experts agree that the battleship is still monarch of the seas. But they point out that a superior air fleet could turn the tide in a battle of otherwise quite evenly matched naval forces, a fact recognized by the navy for years with the result that its air force long has been rated the world's finest.

Stronger Air Force Needed.

Advocates of a gigantic air force for the army say it is needed because of European powers' increased plane strength and the definite inclusion of South America's vast coastline in our defense zone.

Germany, the No. 1 air power, is credited with at least 10,000 modern planes with Italy second at 6,000. Army officers say the current U. S. air program of 2,320 planes for the army and 3,000 for the navy might be adequate for defense needs today but at the rate Germany is turning out planes—

PARKING METERS FACING DELAY

Bill Providing for Machines Fails to Come Up at Special Session.

A delay of at least 60 days in calling for bids for the installation of parking meters in Mansfield was seen today when city council, at a special meeting last night, deferred a second reading of an ordinance authorizing the installation of the machines.

With James E. Crum, chairman of council's special committee on parking meters absent, the bill failed to come up for a second reading. The two other members of the committee, Russell D. Porch and George Berg, did not call for the measure.

Crum introduced the ordinance at council's regular session Jan. 4, when it was given its first reading upon his recommendation. Indications are now that a second reading will be held at the next regular meeting Feb. 7 before it comes up for passage in March.

The measure upon approval, authorizes Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist to establish parking meter zones and to provide for the immediate installation of the meters by calling for bids for the leasing of the machines by the city.

Cincy Man Wounds Girl, Then Kills Self With Gun.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Charles H. Pottschmidt, 27, died today and his companion, Emily Hamaker, 23, was near death from gunshot wounds which police said apparently were inflicted by the man as the two sat in a parked automobile.

Patrolman George Stein quoted a passing motorist who found the couple late last night as saying Miss Hamaker, a beauty parlor operator, gasped that she had been shot by her companion, who turned the gun on himself. The officer reported an automatic pistol was found at the scene.

Stein said three notes written on one sheet of paper were found in Pottschmidt's coat pocket, which indicated that the bakery manager planned to end the life of the woman and kill himself. Stein said one note was addressed to "Mom," another to "'Ginia," whom the officer described as Pottschmidt's wife.

MUSICA'S TWO DIARIES NAME BLACKMAILERS

Federal Agents Predict More to Be Involved in Drug Swindling Case.

RUSHED TO CAPITAL

Events Covering Period of 16 Years of 'Coster's' Life Seized by Agents.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Two dynamite-laden diaries kept with meticulous detail by "F. Donald Coster," the former president of McKesson and Robbins, today came into possession of federal agents, presaging new sensations in the fantastic case.

Among the vital information contained in the two diaries are the names and the amounts "Coster" paid to blackmailers to keep his true identity as Philip Musica, a notorious swindler, a secret, it was learned. When he was finally exposed as the notorious Musica who rose to the presidency of the McKesson and Robbins Drug company and engineered a fantastic dissipation of its assets, "Coster" committed suicide.

Cover 16-Year Period.

The diaries and their explosive information cover a period of 16 years of "Coster's" life, it was learned. They were considered of such great importance that they will be rushed to Washington today for inspection by Brien McMahon, assistant attorney general.

That new charges can be expected in the case was vouchsafed for by one federal official who said:

"As a result of the information in the diaries we expect to be in a position to develop new charges against persons hitherto not connected with the case."

Federal agents launched a hunt for a third diary which they believe would contain details for the years 1928 to 1930. The first diary covers the period from 1920 to 1928 and the second from 1930 to November, 1938. It ends a week before "Coster" blew out his brains.

Study Private Papers.

In addition to the diaries, federal agents will take with them to Washington two bales of correspondence and private papers of "Coster." These are believed to reveal in detail the setup of the non-existent $16,000,000 crude drug department over which he presided.

In the diaries, "Coster" not only wrote the names of those to whom he paid blackmail that may have totaled as much as $50,000 a year but also recorded conversations with his extortioners. Names of men victimized by his frauds are mingled with the names of those who helped him in his fraudulent enterprises.

The diaries for some unaccountable reason had been removed from their hiding place, presumably in "Coster's" home at Fairfield, Conn., according to the fed-

LEASURE GIVEN OHIO CANAL JOB

Storm Center In UCC Fight To Get $4,000 Salary Yearly.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Charles S. Leasure of Zanesville, storm center in the recent fight on Democrats to retain control of the state unemployment compensation commission, got a job today as superintendent of Ohio canal lands.

Gov. Martin L. Davey had sought Leasure's re-appointment to the commission, but confirmation was blocked by eight insurgent Democrats and five Republicans.

Carl G. Wahl, state director of public works, announced that Leasure would succeed E. E. Booton of Columbus, who resigned after serving as agent for canal lands since 1892. The position pays $4,000 a year.

Jack Benny to Fight Charge of Smuggling

Comedian Free on Bond After Federal Jury Indicts Him.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—No longer the droll comedian of radio and screen, an indignant and grim-faced Jack Benney was free today on the nominal bail of $1,000 until the government can bring him to trial on an indictment charging him with smuggling.

As Benny prepared to return to his chores in Hollywood, the possibility grew that additional film stars will be drawn into the ever-widening web of indictments being returned by the federal grand jury investigating the activities of Albert N. Chaperau. Piqued because his friends failed to come to his aid with bail, Chaperau was reported to be talking freely to the jury.

Before Jury An Hour.

Benny spent an uncomfortable hour or more testifying before the federal grand jury which promptly indicted him and Chaperau on a charge of smuggling, transporting and concealing two diamond clips and a diamond bracelet valued at $2,131. The jewelry apparently was intended for Benny's wife and comedy partner, Mary Livingston, but Benny refused to comment. Spared none of the ignominy required by federal procedure, Benny was fingerprinted and photographed before being released for the trial tentatively set for Jan. 24.

"This is a terrible thing," Benny exclaimed. "I am utterly amazed."

The jewelry involved could have been brought into the country legally for about $800 duty, it was estimated.

Nnlike his friend and fellow comedian, George Burn, who has pleaded guilty, Benny entered a vigorous not guilty plea with the court clerk. His voice trembled with anger.

Chaperau, who boasted of his friendship with film stars, has now been named in a total of five indictments. Three involve smuggling charges with Burns, Benny and Mrs. Elma Lauer, wife of a supreme court justice, as co-defendants. The other two involve passport and citizenship irregularities. Chaperau has been found guilty in the Lauer case in which his contention that he was entitled to immunity as a Nicaraguan commercial attache was rejected. He is listed to be brought to trial next in the Burns case.

The charges against Benny carry a maximum penalty of six years in prison and a $15,000 fine upon conviction. The comedian came to New York by airplane and appeared before the grand jury voluntarily.

80-Year Old Structure Burns; Fire Spreads to Parsonage.

NEWPORT, Ky.—(AP)—Church members surveyed today the ruins of St. John's Protestant congregational church destroyed in a fire at a loss estimated at $76,500.

The blaze, discovered late yesterday on the roof of the 80-year old edifice, spread to the parsonage and a nearby dwelling. Rev. Harold W. Barkhan, pastor, estimated damage to the church at $75,000 and $1,500 to the parsonage and home.

Fire fighters were endangered when the steeple crashed as the roof crumbled. Fire Chief Edward Mills said the blaze probably was caused by defective flues.

DEPOSITS SOAR

Mansfielders' Assets in Banks Up $1,600,000 in 1938.

Deposits in Mansfield banks were swelled by more than a million and a half dollars during 1938, year-end statements of the city's four finnacial institutions showed today.

The total amount of money which Mansfielders have on call in the city's banking institutions increased from $15,222,188 on Dec. 31, 1937 to $16,908,407 on Dec. 31, 1938 for a net gain of $1,686,239.

Total assets of the banks increased from $18,557,698 to $19,384,673.

The four banks whose reports were considered in compiling the figures were the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, the Farmers Saving and Trust company, the Citizens National bank and Trust company, and the Richland Trust company.

SHAFFER TAKES OVER ROAD JOB

Mansfielder Assumes Duties at Ashland, Plans Study of Four Suspensions.

Granted a brief delay to enable him to attend to personal business, Murry D. Shaffer, new state highway engineer in Division No. 3, today assumed his duties at the Ashland headquarters. He was to have started yesterday.

Shaffer, who is living temporarily at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, declined to comment today on the action he might take to determine the status of four state highway employes at Ashland who were suspended last week and the case of another whose job was abolished after all five testified against their former boss, Ivan R. Ault, retiring highway director.

"I have had no opportunity to study the cases, and until I do I will express no opinion," he said.

He added that he expected to be called to Columbus late this week to confer with Col. Robert Beightler, new highway director, on proposed changes in the state highway set-up in the Ashland division, which includes Richland county.

The four highway employes were suspended and the one position abolished after testifying that Ault, former division engineer, solicited campaign funds from workers for Gov. Martin L. Davey in his unsuccessful campaign for re-nomination.

Shaffer, former Mansfield service-safety director who was appointed highway engineer by State Director Beightler, said today he was undecided whether he would make his home in Mansfield or Ashland.

Bromfield Finds His Dream Farm

By JANE WILLIAMS

THE quest of Louis Bromfield, Mansfield-born novelist, for a farm in the rolling hills of his native Richland county, has apparently ended. Bromfield, it was learned today has taken an option on 385 acres in Pleasant Valley in Monroe township, about 15 miles southeast of Mansfield.

The famous writer is expected to exercise the option this week when he returns from Washington, D. C.. The property in question is actually two adjoining farms, for which he will pay approximately $37,000, and spend a similar amount in revamping buildings and landscaping.

The author, who returned only last fall to Ohio from Senlis, France, where he had resided for 13 years, has been seeking his "dream farm" in Richland county for the past two months. After looking at dozens of farms that were for sale, he happened, by mere chance, to find just what he wanted—only to learn that it wasn't for sale and most of the land had been in the possession of one family for many years.

Bromfield said that he "looked across the valley and there it was—just as I had dreamed it, a white house, set in rolling hills, with a background of woods and an old orchard, with a lazy stream meandering at its feet." It was Bromfield himself who induced the owners to part with it.

The first public intimation that Bromfield made of the impending purchase was in Washington, D. C., yesterday where he attended a luncheon of the National Women's Press Club, at which he was a speaker.

Congresswoman Jessie Summer of Illinois was also a speaker and engaged in a sharp verbal clash with Bromfield over present conditions. She had said that the banks of America were not loaning money "because of unreasonable federal restrictions on them," when Bromfield interrupted with:

"I can't take that statement too seriously, when, after 25 years absence from Richland county, Ohio, I—a poor author—can walk into a bank and borrow $34,000 to buy a farm."

The author continued to enlarge upon the prosperity of this community: "I returned to a town and county that I remembered as prosperous and find less evidence of poverty and discontent than ever before. I found excellent new roads in my county and even two large new lakes."

William K. Kroeger late yesterday resigned as state superintendent of building and loan associations "at the convenience" of Charles H. Jones, new commerce director.

1,000 to Lose Jobs In Ohio Highway Department In Week

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—State Highway Director Robert Beightler, complying with Governor Bricker's demand for governmental economy, announced today that 1,000 highway department employes would be laid off within a week.

Beightler said lay-offs would be made in all divisions of the department as a retrenchment move.

"This is a retrenchment and they will not be replaced by Republicans," he said.

He added that many of the employes to be laid off had been added to the department payroll in recent months.

This move will save the department about $150,000, he said.

The list of those to be laid off was not available.

Harry D. Metcalf, chief maintenance engineer in the department announced that $900,000 worth of orders for all kinds of materials had been held up in the state finance director's office for "analysis."

"Some of the prices seem to be out of reason," he said. "There is some question as to whether we need all this material. We intend to weed out unnecessary purchases."

He said the orders were placed during the last two weeks of the Davey administration, and that if any firms had started to fill the orders it was "their tough luck."

Paris Told Daladier Informed Briton Won't Talk About Dispute With Dictator.

(By United Press)

ROME—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain came to Rome today for another "Munich conference" at which he will learn the extent of Premier Benito Mussolini's Mediterranean demands and advance farther along the road to appeasement in Europe.

The special train carrying Chamberlain, Lord Halifax and others of the official British party arrived at 4:18 p. m. Premier Mussolini and Count Galeazzo Ciano greeted the visitors at the station.

Flags Decorate City.

The city was gaily decorated with British and Italian flags and great crowds turned out to welcome Chamberlain.

As Chamberlain came here, both Italian and German sources insisted that Mussolini will not use the threat of the full backing of Fuehrer Adolf Hitler to wring concessions from Chamberlain. They denied Hitler had made any such commitment.

(In Berlin, the foreign office organ, Diplomatic Political Information, published a statement indorsing the claims of Italy in the Mediterranean.)

As Chamberlain stepped from the train, Mussolini shook his hand warmly and Count Ciano likewise greeted Lord Halifax.

The band played "God Save the King" and the Fascist anthem, "Giovinezza." Mussolini and Chamberlain then reviewed an honor guard of grenadiers.

The party passed through the front enclosure of the station, where nearly 1,000 British residents were gathered, shouting:

"Long live Chamberlain! Long live Mussolini!"

'Mind Made Up.'

Mussolini was reported to be prepared to outline his demands on France at his first talk with Chamberlain late today. He was said to be confident of his own strength and if the test came, of the backing of Hitler. Inspired newspaper articles warned that Mussolini's mind was made up and

Hawley Appointed to State Liquor Stores Position

Harry E. Hawley, former Mansfield postmaster and active Republican, today was appointed assistant supervisor of state liquor stores, succeeding A. B. Cook of Chardon, the United Press reported today.

Hawley, whose appointment to a liquor department post was predicted yesterday by The News-Journal, will receive a salary of $4,500 a year. This is a reduction of $500 from the salary paid to Cook.

The appointment was announced by Gov. John W. Bricker. Hawley formerly worked for the state under Joseph T. Tracy when the latter was auditor.

Hawley is the second Mansfielder to receive a major appointment in the Bricker administration. Murray D. Shaffer, former service-safety director here, was appointed head of Division No. 3 of the state highway department, with headquarters in Ashland.

Board Checks Estimates on Simpson, Cleveland Firm Believed Low.

A Cleveland contractor was believed the low bidder today on construction of the John Simpson Junior high school as the board of education opened 11 bids on the general construction at a special meeting at noon.

The Hawkins company, Cleveland, submitting a bid of $293,736, about $6,000 below the estimate, appeared as the low bidder. Dr. John H. Bristor, clerk of the board, pointed out, however, that alternates in the contract may place another bidder below that figure. No Mansfield contractor submitted a bid on the building.

The school board is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p. m. today to consider the bids and award contracts for the general construction and installation of heating, plumbing and electrical equipment.

FOUGHT TO KEEP POLITICS OUT OF RELIEF, HOPKINS TESTIFIES

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Harry L. Hopkins said today he had done everything in his power "to keep petty, partisan politics out of the WPA."

At a hearing before the senate commerce committee on his nomination for secretary of commerce, the former WPA administrator denied emphatically he had ever made the remark: "We will spend and spend and tax and tax and elect and elect."

Hopkins also testified in a discussion of his qualifications for his new office that "if anybody has had an intimate experience with business during the last six years it has been myself."

The "spend and spend" remark had been attributed to Hopkins by several newspaper correspondents, three of whom were called to today's hearing.

Under questioning of Sentor Vanderberg (R.-Mich.), Hopkins, squirming in his chiar from time to time, vigorously defended his record as WPA administrator.

"I have been in Washington about six years," he said. "My record is an open book.

"During this time there were about 3,300 Republican committees over the country collecting everything they could about us. There were plenty of critics trying to find evidence of chicanery."

Despite this, the lanky, loose-jointed official said, only a few instances of politics had been found. Nothing had been found against the WPA administration, he said, in New York, Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles and Cleveland or in the states of Michigan, Vermont and Texas.

Hopkins' voice sometimes broke slightly, and he fidgeted constantly with his glasses.

"Anybody who knows anything about practical politics in the counties of America," he said at one point, "must not be surprised that even some of the WPA officials were coerced into it.

"We had pressure from the outside—people from the outside would write and ask for political contributions."

The witness, testifying in a jammed hearing room seating 300 persons, added:

"I have done everything I could to keep petty partisan politics out of the PWA."

STRUCK BY AUTO

Woman Pedestrian Suffers Face Injuries on Way to Work.

Struck by an automobile at North Mulberry and West Fifth streets, at 7:30 a. m. today while on her way to work, Miss Lena Carbetta, 215 North Mulberry street, suffered face lacerations.

Police said they were told by the driver of the car, W. E. Beal, R. D. 2, Lexington, that he was blinded by lights from a filling station at North Main and Fifth streets and did not see Miss Carbetta crossing the street. Miss Carbetta was taken to a physician's office by Beal where she was treated.

HELD TO JURY

Mansfield Youth Indicted on Armed Robbery Charge.

A Mansfield youth was one of a trio held in the Erie county jail today under $5,000 bond following indictment on armed robbery charges in connection with robbery of a socially prominent Sandusky resident in that city last September.

He is Robert Farrow, 20, who gave a Park avenue west address at the time of his arrest. The other two, both from Columbus, are Farrow's cousin, Kenneth Huber, 26, and Kenneth Bricker.

The three were arrested at a cottage in Bayview after they had stopped a car at a downtown Sandusky street intersection and at the point of a gun ordered the operator of the machine to drive to nearby Venice where he was robbed of $5 and dumped from his car, police charged.

Police said the youths had planned the holdup of a bank at Castalia the following day.

TRACES RISE OF CREDIT SYSTEM

O. S. U. Professor Outlines Development at Dinner of Credit Bureau.

The development of the credit system of buying and the organization of credit rating bureaus was discussed last night before 120 members of the Mansfield Credit Rating bureau at the Mansfield-Leland hotel by Dr. Felix Held, secretary of the College of Commerce and Administration of Ohio State university.

It was the first evening meeting the membership has held after six years of luncheon meetings, according to V. H. Lodde, secretary-manager.

Dr. Held talked on retail credit and the problems of collections. He traced the development of credit buying from the time individuals "charged" a few groceries to the present day when the majority of all retail business is conducted on a credit basis.

Credit on a wide basis began about 1910, he pointed out, and the problems that came with increasing credit buying brought about the necessity for credit rating bureaus after the World war. There are now 1,400 such bureaus that are affiliated with the national organization.

He said that one of the greatest mistakes in the collection business was that merchants sent out the same type of letters to individuals without thought for their applicability. Collection tactics, he said, should be more individualized.

Lodde, in making a report of past year's activities, said that the Mansfield bureau has a file which contains the names of 90,000 buyers from Mansfield and immediate vicinity.

C. M. Crafton, president of the Retail Merchants association, spoke briefly. Louis A. Ott was toastmaster and presided over the meeting.

HELD TO JURY

ASHLAND — William Budd of near Perrysville was bound over to the Ashland county grand jury under bond of $300 after he was arraigned before J. H. Armstrong, justice of the peace, on charges of non-support.

FREEDOM'S 'BEAUTIFUL,' MOONEY DECLARES; GOES TO HOSPITAL

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—Marveling at the freedom he says he yet finds "strange—and very beautiful," Thomas J. Mooney went to a specialist today to find how his health was after 22 years' imprisonment.

Mooney celebrated the return of his full civil rights by Gov. Culbert Olson Saturday by registering as a Democrat and making two speeches yesterday.

In one, over a nationwide broadcast he said that he bore no malice toward the men he contended "framed" him and Warren K. Billings for the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness day tragedy.

He added, however, that "I loathe and despise the conditions which could make such a thing possible. I shall do everything possible with what is left of my life to better those conditions. How much is left to me I do not know. Those long years in prison have taken their toll of my health. But in spite of that my spirit is younger than my age."

"It is strange to be here tonight," Mooney said. "Strange to realize that when I awake tomorrow morning I will see not the four walls of the cell but a room with curtains at the windows instead of bars. It is strange to realize that I can walk out of that room into the sunlight—free. Strange—and very beautiful."

Mooney said that although much of his life had been "lost" in prison he had kept abreast of world and national affairs.

"And so I have learned that even in a cell one can live and grow," he said.

TEACHERS HEAR TALK BY ARNOLD

Lakewood School Research Director Speaks at Meeting.

Dwight L. Arnold, director of research and guidance in the Lakewood public schools, addressed a meeting of the Mansfield City Teachers' association Tuesday afternoon in the high school auditorium.

Arnold spoke on the subject, "Guidance—Just Another Fad or a Significant Change?"

The meeting was preceded by a meeting of the Senior high school faculty, at which Arnold also spoke. A musical program by Dale Bechtel, Richard Sparks and Robert Early was presented at the city association meeting.

'PLUS SIGNS' TOP BUSINESS CHART AGAIN

New Building Only Activity in December Under Figures for Previous Month.

For the second successive month "plus signs" predominated the Mansfield business barometer during December, with only one classification failing to show a gain.

This was disclosed in a monthly review of business conditions released today by the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce.

In the comparison with figures for November, all businesses showed increases in December ranging from 1.40 per cent to 14.26, with one exception. That was building valuation which was 56.28 per cent under a record November figure.

Automobile registrations totaled 176 for December as compared with 163 for November, an increase of 7.39 per cent, and an increase of 34.66 per cent over the registrations in December, 1937.

Employment on Upgrade.

Paced by increases in mercantile and industrial employment, the review showed that bank clearings, postal receipts and bus fares led the way for "better times" in December, the best business month of the past year.

Mercantile employment, which showed a 1.40 per cent increase in December over the previous month was 21.57 per cent better than that of December, 1937. Industrial employment figures, up 8.68 over the November figures, showed an increase of 2.55 over the corresponding period last year.

The chamber reported that industrial employment during December reached a total of 8,980 persons as compared with 8,751 last year, while mercantile employes totaled 1,785 as compared with the 1,400 in December, 1937.

Bank clearings during December showed an increase of 12.64 per cent over November, postal receipts, boosted by a record Christmas mailing, increased 14.26 per cent, and bus fares showed an increase of 12.64 per cent.

MICA FROM CLAY

New Source Found For Material; Once Coming From Rocks Only.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (NS) — Common clay, one of the most common substances known to man, provides the base for artificial manufacture of mica, relatively rare mineral. Mica is highly useful because of its transparency and resistance to heat and fire. Formerly it was obtainable only from natural deposits in rocks.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Medical science moves on—and these days you seldom hear of a bloated bondholder.

There are still some young fellows who haven't found out that they can't make a living by playing slot machines.

When you say "Wait a minute," the lapse of 60 seconds doesn't seem important—until you remember that the federal government is spending $17,113 every minute.

Lesser of Two Perils.

A RECENT poll of American opinion indicated that most Americans, while opposed to both Communism and Nazism, now consider the latter the greater peril.

A current British survey produces the same result, though in a different form. Asked whether they would sympathize with Russia or Germany in case of war between those countries, 85 per cent of the British public favored Russia to 15 per cent favoring Germany.

The American public, in response to the same question put to the British people, answers it in almost the same way, favoring Russia by 83 to 17 per cent.

This is an amazing change of front. Except during the World war, when Russia was for a time fighting on the side of the Allies, American opinion has always been more friendly to Germany than to Russia.

Americans and Britons, of course, are almost unanimously opposed to Communism, but no longer fear it so much, because it has grown weak and is meddling less in other nations' affairs. Nazism, on the other hand, is increasingly stronger, more ruthless and aggressive.

Photography's Century of Progress.

SEEING such an exhibition of technicolor photography as has been accomplished in the current motion picture, "Sweethearts," it is amazing to consider that the whole history of photography extends back only one hundred years, when Daguerre, with cumbersome apparatus, made the first crude photograph.

From the sensitized copper plate of Daguerre, with requirement for lengthy exposure and slow development, to the simple processes of today's professional and amateur photography, has been a long step, but when the magic of motion and color is considered the results are almost beyond belief.

Transmission of pictures by wire is also among the achievements of recent years, with science and art combining to make realities out of what were not long ago regarded as impossibilities.

No long span of years is required to remember the advent of film as the successor of glass plates in photography, or to recall the earliest flickerings in the field of motion pictures.

Now it is not only possible to enjoy the combination of motion, color and sound in commercial pictures, but also to have, at nominal cost, a home outfit for taking motion pictures of family, friends and familiar scenes.

It is quite likely that, one hundred years ago, some people thought there was little likelihood of improving Daguerre's first photograph—just as some folks today think there are no further opportunities for progress. But there must also be SOME young people who recognize that present opportunities are greater than ever before—and that they must develop the energy, initiative and ability to find and take advantage of these opportunities.

More Interest In Spanish Language.

THE Spanish language, long a sort of poor relation among the foreign languages taught in high schools and colleges in this country, may now receive more attention. Spanish teachers have been asked to help bring about better understanding and good-will between the United States and the Latin-American countries.

Recent world events, particularly in Europe and Asia but also in our own hemisphere, have suddenly turned North American eyes toward the South American continent. More travelers now dare to go farther south than Mexico and Panama. Trade possibilities down there, which we have somewhat neglected in the past, are being recognized.

Now that we really wish these governments and their peoples to be our friends, it is inevitable that we should take a new interest in their language, art and literature. It doesn't seem a bad idea for North Americans to study the language spoken by a majority of the peoples of the New World.

King Gains In Favor.

MANY Americans were disappointed when King George was crowned, replacing the popular and colorful Edward. And that feeling persisted for some time. But as the new king gets his bearings and feels easier in the job, he not only makes a hit with the British but seems to have Americans taking notice.

One unusual thing that His Majesty has started lately is getting acquainted with minority party leaders by hobnobbing with them socially. He nearly blew the roof off British conservatism a few weeks ago by dining with a group of Laborites. Royalty unbent, and so did labor, and a good time was had by all. That occasion went off so pleasantly that Buckingham Palace announced the King would meet the leaders of all the parties in this informal way. It is obviously a good idea in a kingdom which calls itself a democracy.

Antarctic Pleasures.

LINCOLN ELLSWORTH, gathering geological specimens in the Antarctic, on islands never before visited by man, seems to be having a good time. He is assembling a useful collection of samples of the rocks of that region. Open water conditions down there are better than usual. Seaplane and boat make a fine combination for this sort of work, observation from the former quickly revealing passageways through the ice pack that it would be hard to find otherwise.

Commander Byrd and Sir Hubert Wilkins will probably also be heading for the South Polar region again some of these fine days. There seems to be a polar lure that is irresistible, once it has been experienced.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — An item not mentioned in the administration's air program of 10,000 planes and 20,000 new pilots is that such progress is dotted with death.

This is not merely a problem in vital statistics but a problem in public reaction. In the totalitarian nations this is a simple matter. The death reports never are published, even in local papers, so the death toll of the excited foreign air preparations neither disconcerts the local populace nor disturbs other nations.

Private reports from Germany are that the death toll of the Nazi air program is enormous. Training of thousands of pilots annually is a costly process both in planes and pilots. Reports reaching here are that Germany has several times as many pilots now trained as we have, making death rates correspondingly higher.

22,813 Commercial Pilots.

BUT when this country begins pumping up its pilot population, the day by day report of accidents and deaths will be in the papers, on the radio and in published vital statistics.

On Dec. 1 there were 22,813 commercially licensed pilots in the United States, an accumulation of several years of training. That is an increase from 17,379 a year ago, incidentally marking probably the biggest year's increase in trained pilots in the country's history. The 1936 total was 15,763.

There are approximately 5,000 military pilots, a few of whom are listed among the holders of commercial licenses.

Now along comes the plan to put 20,000 college men on wings each year, virtually doubling the present number holding commercial licenses. And as the training schedules increase the total of planes in service must also increase. The department of commerce lists 9,721 licensed airplanes in the country, while army and navy craft add approximately 4,000 more.

Such an increase in pilot training, plus the projected increase of the army air strength to as much as 10,000 planes, may double the toll-taking accidents.

Public Reaction Awaited.

THE army and navy withhold cumulative figures of fatalities among military fliers but the total of deaths in major disasters to military aircraft, not including solo and duet accidents, makes an impressive figure each year.

Deaths among non-military pilots, co-pilots and students totaled 163 during 1935, 159 in 1936, and 177 in 1937. The 1938 figure is not yet compiled. Passenger fatalities are not included, since they will not figure appreciably in the expanded air program.

Air accidents, even comparatively small ones, are spectacular affairs and react on the public deeply. As the cost in lives of the new defense program is measured day by day in headlines it will be a very interesting matter to watch whether the general public is sufficiently alarmed about the need of hemispherical defense against overseas airfleets to steel itself to the sacrifice.

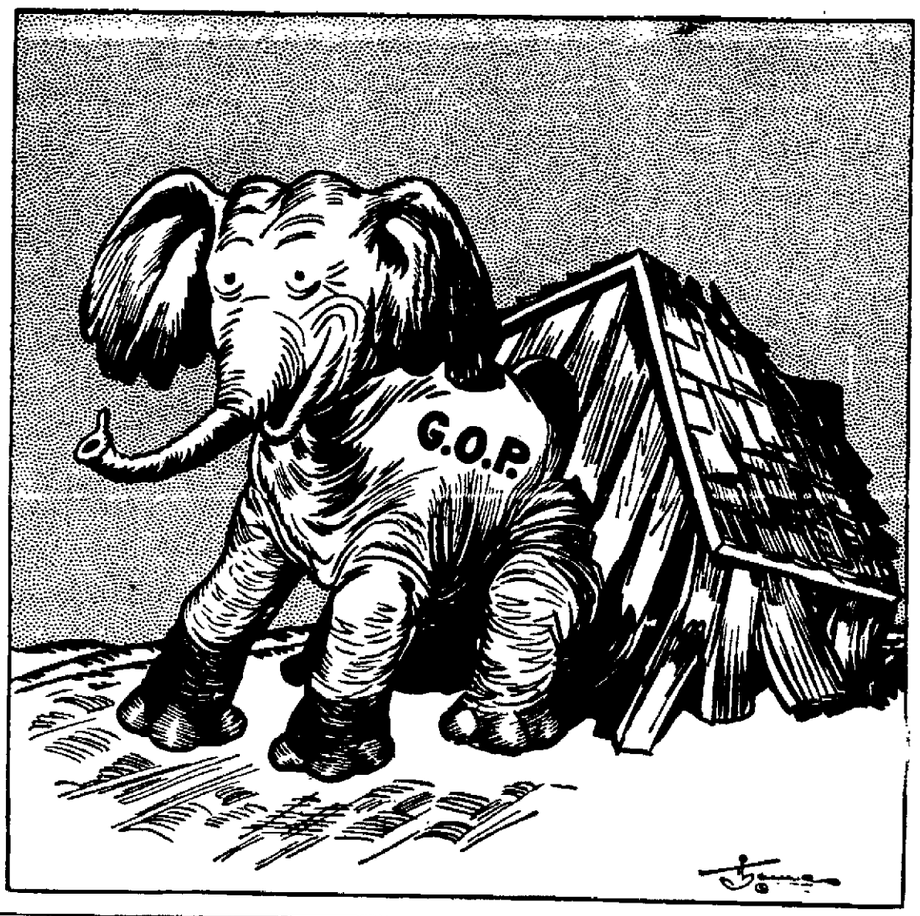
LOOK WHO'S HERE AGAIN!



Third-Term Idea Losing Ground

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Not so many people expect Franklin D. Roosevelt to run for a third term as did six months or a year ago. This is the almost unanimous report brought back to Washington from various parts of the country by senators and representatives who have been at home and are now back in the national capital.

This has nothing to do with whether these people who have changed their own predictions WANT Roosevelt to run again or not. It has nothing to do with whether they would like to have him in the White House for four more years. It has nothing to do even with whether they favor a continuance of the New Deal policies. It is merely a change of their honest convictions as to what Roosevelt himself intends to do.

There has obviously been a decline in popularity of SOME of the New Deal policies. This was amply demonstrated by the primary and election results. Yet most of the returning congressmen say that lots of people voted for anti-New Deal Democrats and even for Republicans who are still strong for Roosevelt—many who would like to see Roosevelt continue in the White House for four more years.

WHETHER sentiment against a third term is strong enough to beat as popular a figure as Roosevelt is a question on which there is a wide variance of opinion among the congressmen who, naturally enough, have been listening eagerly to their constituents' opinions. But the consensus is that if Roosevelt himself had been running in November he would have been re-elected by a small but safe majority. The whole question that cannot be answered is whether there is a tide running against the president which would get far enough by 1940 to beat him.

The importance in this change of opinion as to whether he will run or not lies in natural results which may xpected to flow from it. Its r re consideration will show even a person unfamiliar with politics why a president MUST NOT say that he is not going to run again.

For the logical result is for people who believe firmly that the president is not going to run to line up behind some other candidate. Convinced that the president will not be a candidate, people naturally start figuring whom they prefer to take this place. Their reasoning may be based on sheer patriotism — which man other than Roosevelt would be best for the country? Or it might be based entirely on selfish interest—which man other than Roosevelt in the White House would probably be best for my pocketbook, perhaps as a business man, perhaps as a recipient of relief, perhaps as a taxpayer?

Oh, as we ascend the scale in political importance, it would probably take a more personal turn. Thus the question to any politician would be—which man other than Roosevelt is apt to do more for me, as to consulting me on patronage, naming my political lieutenants to office, etc.? The politician also would weigh very carefully the odds on this candidate aiding his enemies.

A PERFECT instance of where this did NOT work is the case of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana. Wheeler plopped hard for Roosevelt in 1932. He knew Roosevelt was likely to do anything reasonably possible for his friend Senator Thomas J. Walsh. What Wheeler could not foresee was that Walsh would die and Roosevelt would then do everything possible for Wheeler's political enemy, J. Bruce Kremer.

But it is entirely possible that this changing notion out in the country could make it very tough for Roosevelt to win renomination even if he does decide he wants it. Lines and ties once formed are hard to break.

Grab Bag

One-Minute Test.

1. Has a full-blooded Indian ever served in congress?

2. How many presidents of the United States were born British subjects?

3. When did congress pass the first pension bill?

Words of Wisdom.

Wind puffs up empty bladders; opinion, fools.—Socrates.

Hints on Etiquette.

To break into a private conversation is bad manners. It must be done sometimes—always with an apology—but not often or without good cause.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. No. There have been a number of congressmen of part Indian blood, however, and one vice president, Charles Curtis.

2. The first seven. Wm. Henry Harrison (the ninth) was born in 1773, before the Declaration of Independence, and therefore was born a British subject.

3. The first act granting pensions was passed August 26, 1776, by the Continental Congress.

Health Advice

Rules for Amateur Nurses.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"HOW TO Enjoy Ill Health" is a very sensible book, in spite of its smarty title, by a trained nurse, Miss Cecilia L. Schulz.

She has observed that when you are suddenly up against the prospect of going to bed for a while—whether because of a germ, a surgeon, a baby, an accident, or a rest—there are all sorts of questions which keep hammering in your head, and nobody has time or patience to answer them. So she has given some blanket advice to one and all.

She starts off with the tried and true one of "Don't feel sorry for yourself." Self-pity retards your recovery and is the forerunner of a depressed state of mind. "Don't be afraid to be afraid" sounds like a contradiction of the first, but Miss Schultz is right when she says it is not fear of pain that sends the newsick into a lather. It is the fear of the unknown. So ask about things. Doctors, I find, are so used to a routine that they forget the patient doesn't know about it, and omit explaining.

Few "Good" Patients.

Miss Schulz thinks there are very few natural "good" patients. You may think you are a good patient, but the chances are you have guessed wrong. There are only three kinds of natural good patients: (1) the born optimist (they usually do not come out in the end quite as successfully as they thought they would); (2) this class lacks imagination—they are good patients because they accept what comes their way with the impassivity of an oyster, (3) the adventurers; they like a stay in the hospital because it is new and exciting. And do they bring stories home when they get out!

For home or household nurses, Miss Schulz has no great respect—she calls them "home talent nurses." The home talent nurse's worst fault is that she does not have the professional nurse's poker face—when the thermometer shows you have a fever of 102, her face shows it.

The hints for the amateur nurse, however, are worth noting. We can't all afford trained ones, so let's make the amateurs as good as possible.

Here are the rules:

(1) Wear an easily-laundered starched white uniform so you will rustle just like a real nurse. Also wear low-heeled, comfortable shoes.

(2) Never whisper in or around the sick room. Whispering is nerve-racking to the sick; they think you're talking about how ill they are.

(3) Keep a record. Record temperature, pulse, general condition, appetite, excretions, medicaments, etc.

(4) Don't 'entertain' the patient. Silences in the sick room are restful.

(5) Ask the doctor for directions regarding visitors and visiting hours.

(6) Work out a routine and stick to it—about baths, meals, visitors, naps, treatments, etc.

(7) Serve meals punctually.

(8) For feeding fluids get straw sippers used at drug stores counters; they are more appetizing and cleaner than glass tubes.

Miss Schulz also has something to say about visitors to the sick. If you are a prospective patient or a prospective patient's relative, I think you will like her book.

Ohio Anecdotes

The Buckeye Blacksmith.

An important factor in the Whig victory at the 1840 presidential election in which William Henry Harrison triumphed over Democrat Martin Van Buren, was the "Buckeye Blacksmith," John Bear of Zanesville.

First attracting public attention at a Whig convention in Columbus, Feb. 21-22, 1840, his fame spread throughout the state, and thousands flocked to hear him espouse the Whig cause. Without pretense to a formal education, this natural-born orator appealed to the predjudices of the poor and soon won the name of "Rabble Rouser."

The rustic's mere support of the Whig party was an effective argument against the claim that year of the Democrats of representing the "bone and sinew of the land." Touring other states, his phenomenal success continued. President Harrison rewarded Bear by appointing him to the Wyandot Indian agency.

Listen, World!

If You Could Only Be Sure.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IF YOU could only be sure—If you could, just for once, be certain that the thing you're doing is right . . . or wrong.

How often you and I—and all the other millions of miserable mortals—have wailed those protests against the unanswering Silence! Thinking what a heavenly relief, Certainty would be!

Seemed easy enough when we were little tykes, didn't it? Mom or Dad or Teacher had told us what was what; and that was all we needed. But presently someone else came along—and the doubts began! Yet how could they? Surely right was right and wrong was wrong—

—OR WERE THEY?

The bottom seemed to drop from our young universe when first we asked that question. We'd accepted our elders' simple rulings so blindly. But now, it appeared, there was another side to the question. Maybe two or three other sides . . . or even eight or nine or ten! In fact, this whole business of morality seemed made of elastic! Things which had been Absolutely True at one time in human history, were held to be Completely Wrong in another. Nor did one need to search History for such inconsistencies—one's private life was full of them.

Take, for instance, such simple matters as kindness and fair play, honesty, generosity, good taste or vulgarity . . . any sensible, friendly person of average refinement should surely be able to decide What Was What. But—as it speedily appeared — they weren't! For what seemed Fair Play to one was considered Spineless Softness by another . . . or Downright Cruelty by still another. And Honor and Decency were . . . any man's guess!

"IF I COULD ONLY BE SURE" . . . every day your heckled soul sends up that cry. And with each new confusion of our complicated modern life, that cry becomes more bewildered . . . and your search for certainty, more desperate. But there's just one answer to that cry and you might as well face it right now—

YOU NEVER CAN BE SURE! THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS GUARANTEED CERTAINTY IN OUR MORAL DEALINGS . . . NO ABSOLUTE, FOOL-PROOF STANDARD OF RIGHT OR WRONG.

And we should go down on our stupid knees and thank God that this is so! For, instead of being a cruel mockery of our human reasoning, a trap for our human stupidity, this very uncertainty is the greatest privilege ever given Man by God . . .

THE PRIVILEGE OF FREE WILL!

That very uncertainty of which you complain is the sign that you're a MAN INSTEAD OF A MANNIKIN. You have the greatest power that can be bestowed on man or god—THE POWER OF CHOICE . . . THE ABILITY TO MAKE UP YOUR OWN MIND AND RISE OR FALL BY THAT DECISION.

"If I could only be sure." But if you could be sure, you'd never advance an inch in your mental or moral growth. You'd be a puppet, pulled by invisible strings, with no voice in your own future. Instead, you're forced to choose . . . and you rise or fall as you choose . . . and so, rising and falling, falling and rising, you draw near and nearer to the Ultimate Truth . . . you become, more and more, "the master of your fate, the captain of your soul."

Don't ask for Certainty!

ASK, RATHER, FOR THE SENSE TO APPRECIATE UNCERTAINTY—

AND THE COURAGE TO MAKE THE MOST OF IT!

'Write Your Congressman.'

Through inquiries made of every senator and representative, the governors of the 48 states and all the members of the New York legislature, the Medical Society of the state of New York managed to get an incomplete answer to the question, "How much attention do you pay to letters from constituents who may be unknown to you?"

In the Public Opinion Quarterly some of the answers are quoted by Dwight Anderson, who uses the answers to reach the general conclusion that lawmakers give "considerable attention" to letters from constituents unknown to them and "far less attention" to petitions or to postcards, telegrams, form letters or other manifestations of mobilized pressure.

A brief personal letter, giving arguments for or against a legislative proposal, appears to be the best method of winning the lawmaker's attention. — New York Sun.

A Farmer's Diary

Anniversary.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

AT OUR HOUSE today is an anniversary — my first as a newspaper correspondent. If, in writing, as in marriage, the first year is the hardest, then we are happy. It has been a great joy and recreation to share our feeling about the common country things with so many friends, and to find ourselves right in supposing that many city dwellers still love the farm and are interested in the happenings there. My wife has twelve home-made books of clippings on the shelf of the old green cupboard — one for each month of 1938. She calls them "books of the months." They contain reprints from several newspapers, large and small, and we think they show progress. Between the pages on which the clippings are pasted, are letters and cards from readers.

The tenor of this fan mail is the same—we have expressed their own feeling about some common thing, and they are grateful.

A noted man of letters wrote, "It makes my evenings a bit more peaceful...I especially enjoyed it this evening, after a month in that uneasy, fretful section of New York, the Bronx."

A housewife says, "I never miss sending them to my son, in Cleveland, who also loves to keep in touch with the experiences and beauty of country life."

From the president of a construction company, who read about the "trysting tree," — "Enclosed is a picture of a beech on which I cut my initials 52 years ago... they have grown wider, but not higher...all the others were cut since mine." And there was the magnificent beech, with its maze of hieroglyphics.

From an ex-teacher. "My sister and I read and talk about your articles. Thank you for sharing the lovely things you see."

From a literary critic, editor, author, "I do not wonder that it gets printed. It is written with great charm."

From a fellow-farmer, "Mrs. B. and I read this item, and find that our neighbors do likewise. We like the homely philosophy..." These are just a few.

Appreciation gives value to anything. To me, these letters are worth more than money, and I am prouder of them than of anything else I own. My wife, for the good of my soul, hints that the folks who don't like my stuff are keeping quiet. But a man can profit by honest criticism, even though it be adverse. I take this means of thanking all my friends.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Looking back on New Year's Eve I recall two impressionable happenings — one about 45 minutes before Tommy Dorsey's boys swung into Auld Lang Syne, the other about 2:30 a. m.

I had just claimed a table in the Terrace room at the New Yorker when the first occurred. The usual conglomeration of paper hats and noise-makers were piled chin high. I picked up my hat, a cadet's shako. Inside was printed the unbelievable legend: "Made in America."

The second took place when a man, host to a party of four, called for his check a couple of hours later. He paid for it out of a $100 bank note. When the waiter returned with his change the man left some money on the tray with the words, "That's yours."

For a moment the waiter looked at the tray, "I'm sorry, Sir, but I can't take it. That's too much money." The man looked down at the tray. There was a $20 and a $10 note. "Okay," he said, pocketed the $20. The waiter took the $10, bowed, and said respectfully, "Thank you, Sir."

That was so unusual in this grab-what-you-can-get town that I took occasion to remember the waiter's number. It was 25. Ralph Hitz ought to be told what a manly and forthright fellow he has working for him.

Song writers in general ("Including myself—I'm lousy").

His own voice ("I'm allergic to it").

Tin Pan Alley ("Tin Pan Alley's lying down on the job; it lacks talent. There haven't been half a dozen songs of lasting quality written in 15 years. The only one I can think of right now is 'Stardust,' 'Maybe, 'Trees,' too").

Commercialism ("The trouble is that composers are writing solely for profit. I know. I wrote for money too—but I didn't get much. I've written seven or eight so-called hits and my last one, 'My Heaven and Earth,' has paid me only $38 in royalties. Phooie!").

I REGRET to report that New York is becoming overwhelmingly a scotch-and-soda town. Three years ago the scotch sippers were fourth in number of purchases at the bar. But in 1938 they zoomed to the top. Scotch-and-soda is, after all, an effete city drink, and as such, belongs to the effete Park Avenue trail. I do not begrudge the boys their smoke and heather from Glasgow but I do take exception to their attitude toward those who at least appreciate the genial, warming qualities of bourbon and rye. Let them keep their scotch to themselves, and also their asides.

ENVOYS PREDICT WAR IN SPRING, CAPITAL HEARS

Reports Say Ambassadors Tell Congress Groups Nazis, Japs Prepare to Strike.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON —Congressional military committees heard from the lips of America's two ace ambassadors—William C. Bullitt and Joseph P. Kennedy, envoys to France and Britain, respectively—the specific prediction that Japan and Germany would precipitate a new world war this spring, it was learned today.

Japan is preparing to attack the Soviet Union of Russia in the Far East this summer, now that major phases of its China conquest are concluded, and at the same time Germany is expected to make a powerful thrust through Czechoslovakia to grab the rich Ukraine, they said. The two diplomats appeared before a joint meeting of the house and senate military affairs committees.

Cause Repercussions.

Their disclosures brought immediate and varying repercussions throughout congress. Rep. Fish of New York, ranking Republican on the house foreign affairs committee, charged today that the story the two ambassadors told was "very obvious war propaganda."

Bullitt and Kennedy came here from Florida to testify before the congressional committees, and house Republicans said today they intended to make an issue of the proceedings.

"I hope," Fish said, "that the American people will not be stampeded by the very obvious war propaganda of Ambassadors Bullitt and Kennedy, into supporting the president's demands to militarize the United States through a huge armament program. The American people and congress must be given an opportunity to analyze needs for national defense and not be rushed into a costly and stupendous arms program in order to cover up the failure of New Deal politics."

Another Republican who criticized Kennedy and Bullitt was Rep. Lambertson (R., Kan.), who denounced them as "war mongers" and said the president employed their testimony to "disguise his spending program."

On the other hand, some members of the military committees appeared impressed by the reported fear of the ambassadors that war will break out in Europe on a major scale with the coming of warm weather. Still others said that their testimony simply described a serious situation in Europe which has already been reported from time to time by American newspaper correspondents, and that they added "nothing new."

Student Broods Over Jail Term, Takes Own Life

CLEVELAND — (INS)— Brooding over a three-day workhouse sentence imposed upon him for speeding today was blamed for the death of K. Kenneth Kettering, 18, a student at the Baldwin-Wallace conservatory of music in suburban Berea, who hanged himself in a fraternity house, according to Police Chief Leonard Pulz of Berea.

James McKelvey, vice president of Phi Kappa Phi fraternity, found the Lakewood youth dead with a rope of towels, sheets and rags around his neck in the storeroom of the fraternity house last night, according to police.

Kettering was arrested for speeding twice within 10 minutes on the night of Dec. 12, the first time for going 45 miles an hour and the second for going 75 miles an hour.

He told police that he was hurrying to get two girl students home on time. Municipal Judge Julius M. Kovachy sentenced him to three days in the workhouse and suspended his driver's license.

A friend said that at a college dance during the holidays, a girl got up when Kettering sat down next to her, saying that she would not sit next to a "jailbird."

SHIPS BACKBONE OF U. S. DEFENSE

Warships Still Monarch of Seas, Nation's Military Experts Declare.

an average of 500 a month during 1938—it may be very inadequate within a year or two.

These officers insist that the best insurance against war is both an air force and a navy second to none. It might be too late, they say, to produce such an air fleet after an emergency developed.

The oceans remain, however, a powerful natural defense.

On a smaller sea—like the Mediterranean — land-based bombing planes may challenge the war might of the battleship, but over the vast expanses of the Atlantic or Pacific airplanes are not capable of effective operation independent of war vessels.

Planes need convenient bases, floating or fixed, for repairs, refueling and reloading with ammunition. And it takes the dreadnoughts and their sister surface ships to maintain and protect those bases.

A large invading air fleet alone, even assuming it could hop a wide ocean span, could not hope to hold island or coast bases against our naval, air and land forces.

On the other hand, a powerful American air armada by itself could not keep a strong invading naval, land and air expedition from establishing bases for raids on American shipping and for bombing excursions against vital industrial centers.

Can Plane Sink Ship?

Our No. 1 objective in a war with an overseas power would be control of vital shipping lanes to insure the supply of necessary raw materials.

To do this requires primarily an all-around superior battle fleet. Aircraft alone, hampered by various factors couldn't do it.

There is still a question about the ability of an airplane bomb to sink a modern battleship.

Rear Admiral A. B. Cook, the navy's high ranking air officer, says "It must be conceded that an armored ship can be destroyed if struck a sufficient number of times in the right places by large enough bombs."

But Admiral Cook points out that "destruction of warships is not so simple as that."

First, he says, the cloud ceiling has to be sufficiently high and visibility right for locating and bombing a battleship. Second, the attacking aircraft are exposed to heavy concentration of anti-aircraft fire from all ships present as well as attacks from protecting planes which in number may exceed the attackers.

The higher planes fly, the lower their bombing accuracy. The lower they fly, the greater their exposure to anti-aircraft fire.

He says the offensive mission of naval planes, insofar as battleships are concerned, is not to attempt to sink them but rather "to injure them so severely that their speed and maneuverability, as well as accuracy and volume of gun fire, are sufficiently reduced to give our own battleships a marked superiority."

CHAMBERLAIN GETS GREETING

that he intended to get concessions in the Mediterranean.

It was no secret here that Mussolini was disappointed because Chamberlain halted at Paris yesterday to discuss his visit with Premier Edouard Daladier. This was a diplomatic victory for France over Italy, and as Chamberlain arrived here, French newspapers were asserting that Britain stood solidly by France against any Italian demands.

Nevertheless, it was indicated that Mussolini hoped to induce Chamberlain to aid in inaugurating negotiations with France.

In Paris, it was reported France had received assurances that Chamberlain will refuse to discuss the French-Italian dispute during his visit with Mussolini.

At the same time a spokesman for the government made it plain that France was willing to discuss any legitimate claims which Italy may have to advance, provided they are made in the proper manner and not under threat of force.

It was asserted that aside from refusing to discuss any demands Mussolini might have to make on France, Chamberlain would decline to aid in any attempt by Mussolini to summon a three-power or four-power conference over his claims, but would insist that he follow the normal diplomatic procedure and take his claims to France direct.

Nazis Endorse Duce's Mediterranean Claims.

BERLIN — (UP) — The foreign office organ, Diplomatic Political Information, today endorsed the claims of Italy in the Mediterranean.

The Diplomatic Political Information is a subsidiary of the foreign office mouthpiece, Diplomatic Political Correspondence, and usually reflects the viewpoint of the Nazi foreign office. The declaration was considered of special interest in view of reports—denied by both Nazis and Fascists—that Fuehrer Adolf Hitler had promised full military backing to Italian Premier Benito Mussolini.

The newspaper expressed hope that British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's visit to Rome would "Result in satisfying the expectations of Germany's friend, Italy, and paving the way for a new order which will finally serve the well-understood interests of all."

eral men. They were found "somewhere in Connecticut" by postal inspectors directed by Samuel MacLennan.

Meanwhile, the government was waiting for "Coster's" three surviving brothers to make good their pledge to supply complete stories of his activities. They have pleaded guilty to violations of the securities and exchange act.

Bail for the three brothers, Arthur Musica, known as George Vernard, and George and Robert Musica, who masqueraded as George and Robert Dietrich, was drastically reduced by Federal Judge Murray Hulbert at the request of U. CAUSES UPROAR

Lawmaker Flays Murphy as Protector of Strikers.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The house was thrown into an uproar today when a bitter attack on the new attorney-general, Frank Murphy, by Rep. Clare Hoffman (R., Mich.), stirred a wave of resentment by Democratic members.

Dramatizing his speech by brandishing weapons reportedly taken from "sit-down" strikers in Michigan automobile plants, Rep. Hoffman charged that Murphy, while governor of Michigan, suspended the law, protected "sit-down" strikers and aided "mobs."

He displayed clubs made out of metal bolts and bars, sling-shots capable of hurling big metal objects, a file pointed out a dagger and other weapons, which, he said, were taken from "sit-down" strikers.

Tollett was convicted with three other persons of dynamiting the home of Harmon Gouge near Elizabethton, Tenn., last January. Gouge's three children, Sonia, 9; Luena, 7; and Roma Jean, 5, were killed.

The prosecution charged the plot was an effort to kill Gouge, who had admitted he shot Tollett's brothers to death.

Anspach, President of College 4 Years, to Become Head of Teachers School.

ASHLAND—Dr. Charles L. Anspach, president of Ashland college since 1935, today announced his resignation to accept the presidency of Central State Teachers' college at Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

His resignation will be effective June 30, shortly after the close of the spring term at the college. He will become head of the Michigan school July 1.

With nearly 20 years experience in the educational field, Dr. Anspach came to Ashland four years ago from Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti to inaugurate a new education plan of individualized instruction.

He was credited with placing the Ashland school on a first-rate basis.

A native of Fremont, O., Dr. Anspach attended the old Ashland academy and Ashland college, receiving his A. B. degree in 1919. He received his master's degree from the University of Michigan in 1923 and his doctor's degree from the same university in 1930.

Headed Normal College.

The same year he was made head of the college of education at the Michigan State Normal college and later was appointed dean of the department of education to serve until he returned to Ashland as president of the college.

His five years with the Michigan State Normal school interrupted his climb as an executive at Ashland college where he successively held the posts of registrar and dean from 1926 to 1930.

He was registrar from 1923 to 1926, and then dean until 1930 when he accepted the position with the Michigan school.

Before his educational work, he was affiliated with the Willys-Overland company at Toledo and Dr. Hess and Clark, Inc., Ashland firm.

The board of trustees of Ashland college will meet in the "near future" to name a successor to Dr. Anspach, trustees said today. The board will make its appointment on the recommendation of the credentials committee of the college.

At the Central State Teachers college, Dr. Anspach will succeed E. C. Warriner who will retire July 1 at the age of 70.

WHEELING, W. Va. — (AP) — Federal Judge William E. Baker today denied a petition for appointment of a receivership for the Fidelity Investment association and at the same time overruled the association's motion for dismissal of the suit.

The receivership was sought by a group of Pennsylvania residents who held 16 of the company's investment loan contracts. They based their action on charges of fraudulent practices against the company by the securities commission.

Sheriff Thomas W. Wolcott said Mrs. Wight told him her husband poured kerosene on her and threw lighted matches at her when he came home Tuesday intoxicated.

Wight said she was burned accidentally when he poured oil into a stove.

Earl Hart, a neighbor, wrapped a rug around Mrs. Wight and extinguished the flames. Wight helped him put on the fire, Hart said.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll See Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, worried or overtired—your stomach doesn't put too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for indigestion to make the stomach double harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and you are postage paying in. Ask for Bell-ans for indigestion.

Problem of Month Group Arranges Affair for Members of A. A. U. W.; Plans for Dance Announced.

ONE of the most unusual programs to be presented before any Mansfield club this season was given last night by the problem of the month group before the American Association of University Women. After dinner, which was served at long tables in the library of the First Congregational church, 70 members of the branch gathered in the assembly room for the program.

The room was arranged to represent a radio broadcasting studio, and Miss Margaret Tinsley appeared wearing a full-dress suit as Prof. Dizzy Quizzy. Miss Tinsley, assisted by other members of her group, conducted a quiz bee, asking questions of the members.

Prizes were awarded to members of the winning team, and consolation gifts were presented to the losing team. The program was arranged and conducted by Miss Tinsley, Mrs. O. M. Newton, Miss Margaret DeWitt, Miss Elsie Lockmeyer, Miss Vangeline Cook, Miss Louise Andrews, Miss Catherine Oates, Mrs. Harry Knox, Mrs. R. D. Campbell, Mrs. R. M. Gage, Miss Pearl Danback and Miss Margaret Clapsaddle.

The various members of the group wore appropriate costumes for their roles as announcers, pages, time-keepers and judges.

During the brief routine business meeting Mrs. F. J. Heringhaus announced the plans for the dance. Tickets for the benefit guest affair, which will be held Feb. 4 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, were distributed to members.

Names of new members accepted by the branch were read by Mrs. M. W. Hieber. They are the Misses Marian Snyder, Louise Andrews, Mary Henry, Esther Barnett, Margaret Marshall, Eleanor Bond and Louise Wolfe, Mrs. Catherine McMichael and Mrs. George Taylor.

The next regular meeting of the association will be a buffet party at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Feb. 14. Mrs. W. L. Miller is chairman for the affair which begins at 9 p. m.

Mrs. J. W. Ness will be the hostess for the next class meeting, Feb. 14, at her home, 169 Bartley avenue.

RENEWING old acquaintances is a great deal of fun—there's always so much to talk about and so much more that you never even seem to get around to talking about. . . . Mary Lou (Kaufman) Bettiker is finding that very much the case this week. . . . She's in Mansfield now visiting with her parents on Herman avenue. You probably remember Mary Lou—she's the rather tall, quiet brunet who married Ivan Bettiker last spring and moved to Cleveland. . . . Ivan's since been transferred to Charleston, W. Va., (in fact, he's already living there) and Mary Lou will go down in about two weeks—hoping that the much-talked-of southern hospitality will live up to its reputation.

There are some other former Mansfield residents back in town these days too . . . only Lucille and Robert Kinsell are planning to make their home here permanently. The Kinsells have been living in Lorain for the past two years . . . and have so many friends there that they're almost reluctant about returning to their home town.

* * *

Kit Sturges has been dashing around quite frantically all week—with good reason. Trips planned on the spur of the moment always seem twice as exciting as those which are arranged months before. . . . So you can well imagine Kit's excitement over leaving this morning for Florida—having known of the trip only since Monday. She and Mary Lib Drummond are driving down to Orlando, which is Mary Lib's home. . . . They aren't planning to come back until the last of February.

* * *

A TRIP is in the offing for some other Mansfielders this week too. . . . Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hartman left today for an extended South American cruise. They're sailing tomorrow from New York City . . . and plan to come back by way of Florida some time next month.

* * *

Although they're not quite so far away . . . three Mansfield residents are enjoying their winter vacations right here in Ohio—down at Magnetic Springs. . . . These more fortunates are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Ernst and M. D. Ward.

This is also an exciting week for Jane Berkley . . . as she's living in a strange city and attending a strange school. Jane is enrolled at Bliss Secretarial school in Columbus and began classes last Monday. She was graduated from Mansfield Senior high last June and has been taking a post-graduate course since then. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Berkley are planning to drive down to visit her this Sunday—and she'll probably have frequent visits from Roger Herrick (a friend who attends Oberlin college) too.

WE HAD a quiz-bee broadcast right here in Mansfield last night which was every bit as authentic as the ones held in New York—except that it wasn't on the air. It provided an evening of fun for the members of the American Association of University Women, and was sponsored by the problem of the month group of that organization. One of the very clever things on the program was the identification tags which the different teams wore for the bee. Helen Beilstein, a student at Senior high, designed and made all of them—they were question marks with bees sitting on top . . . and each one was hand painted. . . . You certainly deserve a pat on the back, Helen.

From my notebook: Hope all her friends will call on Patty Bancroft. . . . She's in bed with a broken leg—the unhappy result of a skiing spill.

E-T Club Elects Officers at Meeting at Miss Helen Berlo's

WHEN members of the E-T club met last evening at the home of Miss Helen Berlo, 345 South Diamond street, they elected Mrs. Leo Stuhldreher president for the ensuing year. Mrs. Harvey Sawhill will assist here as vice president. There were three secretaries elected, Mrs. Clifford Fox, general secretary; Mrs. Andrew Herring, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Arthur Hunter, corresponding secretary. Miss Marguerite Goetz will serve as treasurer of the club for the coming year.

Three guests, Miss Ruth Maffett, Mrs. Ray Maffett, and Miss Lillian Conley, and 18 members were in attendance at last night's meeting.

During the program, Miss Maffett told the group of her trip to Hawaii last summer and illustrated it with motion pictures. She also displayed some novelties, which she brought back from the island, and interpreted three dances in the native costumes.

Miss Ethel McClure and Mrs. Leonard Hutzelman were prize winners in the evening's contest, while Miss Maffett was the recipient of a guest prize. Miss Berlo served refreshments buffet style at the close of the games.

Miss Goetz has invited the club members to her home at 225 South Diamond street for the next regular meeting, which will be held on Jan. 24.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life.

Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.
